TEXAS TOWN RAVAGED BY TORNADO

14 KILLED

Heavy Damage As Twisters Hit 3 States

From AP and UP Dispatches

ALEXANDRIA, La. — Late fall tornadoes, slashing suddenly out of the rain and thunder, killed at least 14 persons in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas Thursday night and this morning.

More than 100 persons were injured. Nine died in Louisiana, three in Texas and two in Mississippi. A baby tornado struck the Selma, Ala., area but no one was reported injured there.

The storms hit hardest at Alexandria, La., where three persons were killed Thursday night in the 10-block residential section that served as the tornado's target. A couple died at Carencro, La., and two men were killed near Crowley, La.

The storms hit communities throughout south central Louisiana with heavy rains and high winds accompanying them.

Several communities reported scores of persons injured. The Boyce community near Alexandria reported at least 15 injured while 81 were hurt in Orange, Tex., where a housing development was smashed.

A house fell on a police squad car in Alexandria and a tree, ripped out of the ground by the twisting wind, fell squarely across another police car, crushing it. Four policemen in the cars narrowly escaped death.

"I was driving down the street and here comes a house flying along," one policeman said. "The other officers and myself just had time to tumble out of the car, before the house dropped on top of it and smashed it to bits."

West Cheered By Ike's Talk

(See Page 11 for Eisenhower Speech)

LONDON (Reuters)—Big, confident headlines and enthusiastic government reaction in the free world capitals today greeted President Eisenhower's television address Thursday night.

MOON ROCKET READY NOW?

WARSAW (UP)—A noted Soviet scientist said today that his country now has the knowledge and means to launch an unmanned rocket to the moon and even to Mars. "This is not a Utopian idea," Professor Ari Sternfeld, a specialist in interplanetary travel stated in an interview published today in the newspaper "Dif of Warsaw."

"We are about to send the first rocket to the moon tomorrow but today."

Third Sputnik To Go Higher

LONDON (AP)—Reports reaching London today from reliable sources said Russia soon will send up a third earth satellite—twice as big as Sputnik II and with another live dog aboard.

The reports said Sputnik III will weigh a ton and will be sent even higher into space than the second Soviet moon. The latter went up slightly more than 1,000 miles.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the U.S. satellite program, Dr. John P. Hagen, said today "I wouldn't be surprised" if the Russians launch a Sputnik each month until the end of 1958.

Teachers' 18% Wage Demand Shocks Board

Boost Would Cost Average Taxpayer $12

By PETE LOUDON

An 18 per cent wage boost, equal to $553,355 has been requested of Greater Victoria School Board by the 687-member Teachers' Association, it was learned today.

Victoria School Board chairman W. H. Golby called the request "staggering."

Sooke School Board also has been asked to increase teachers' salaries by $47,875, or 16 per cent.

If granted, the wage requests would hike Greater Victoria taxes by about $12 on the average home.

The wage requests were part of a six-point program put forward at a meeting Monday of teachers' bargaining representatives and Greater Victoria trustees' finance committee.

The teachers also are requesting Medical Services Association (MSA) coverage, consideration of sabbatical leave, increases for department heads not included in teacher salary scales, and some slight changes in wording of present contract clauses.

In the secondary school level, the requested increases would mean boosts from $4,900 to $5,950, $5,250 to $6,600, $5,600 to $7,250, depending on category of service and qualification.

The increases would range between $350 and $1,650 annually.

Teachers' salaries start now at $2,600, pass through 56 possible categories to $7,250. Various principals receive payment beyond that point, up to $9,864.

Under the terms of the Public Schools Act, bargaining must be completed by February 14, 1958.

There was indication bargaining meetings will be lively.

Victoria school board chairman W. H. Golby said of the wage request: "It is staggering."

Local Ratepayers Responsible

Mr. Golby pointed out that under the present school finance formula, any increase will be the responsibility of the local ratepayers. The B.C. government contributions to school costs are based on a maximum scale already exceeded.

The requested wage increase would mean an increase in the district 61 tax rate of 3.14 mill.

Victoria comptroller Dennis A. Wednesday, Nov. 20.

MSA Consideration Refused

Mr. Leeming said the board would not give consideration to the request for MSA coverage "until provision has been established in the Public Schools Act," which would enable boards to contribute to such a scheme.

Consideration has not yet been given to teachers' request for a study of sabbatical leave. (In some universities, senior faculty members are granted one year in seven, holiday with pay. The year is usually spent in rest, travel or study; Sabbaticals are not normally granted except in the case of senior and valued professors.)

Here are highlights of the teachers' brief:

"Recent Russian technological success has dramatically underscored the point we have been trying to make for the past several years — the Western world is not contributing a large enough share of its income and resources to education."

"It seems ironic that an economy which can produce such a quality of goods as ours, cannot provide anything like sufficient manpower to supply the demands of our educational system."

"... The continuing disinclination of our young people to enter the profession in sufficient quantities is evidence of the foregoing."

The statement said 1,750 new teachers would be needed in B.C. in 1958 and only 750 will

TORIES FORGET PROMISES SAYS LIBERAL

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal charge that the Progressive Conservative government has backed out on election promises was renewed in the Commons today.

Walter Tucker, Liberal spokesman on veterans' affairs, said the country will be surprised that no increases are being made this fall in disability pensions for veterans "especially in the light of what was promised by the prime minister when he was campaigning in the last election."

Veterans Minister Brooks denied that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had made such a promise.

OTTAWA (CP)—A qualified government official predicted today unemployment this winter will likely hit at least 750,000, the highest since the end of the Second World War.

The previous post-war high was in February, 1955, when 619,000 persons were seeking jobs. Estimates earlier this year were that unemployment during the coming year would not go much above 550,000.

Informants attributed the unemployment rise to an increase in the size of the labor force, caused partly by immigration and softening of certain segments of the economy.

HARD HIT AREAS

Areas expected to be hardest hit by lack of jobs include British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec and the Maritimes. Least affected by unemployment will likely be the Prairie Provinces, where construction activity and mineral development continues at a strong pace.

Informants said unemployment in the Vancouver area rose earlier than usual and will likely increase more as the winter progresses. (See figures page 10.)

The source said conditions will probably improve by spring in this area, but perhaps not as rapidly or to the extent of the last few years, particularly in lumbering and manufacturing of wood products.

The lumbering, pulp and paper, saw mill, plywood and mining industries all were reported curtailing activity in many parts of Canada.

During September, Canada's jobless total climbed by 20,000 to 194,000. This is about 3.2 per cent of the labor force, almost twice as great as the 1.7 per cent last year.

Sources said unemployment during October climbed by at least 25,000 to 30,000. The labor force in September was estimated at 6,048,000, compared with 6,131,000 one month earlier.

The number of Victorians unemployed rose this week by 242 to a total of 3,149. National Employment Service manager James Fox said the total was about 600 higher than at the same time last year.

The figure included 2,114 men and 1,035 women seeking work.

Mixed Beer Parlors Soon For Alberta

CALGARY (CP)—The provincial cabinet will instruct the Alberta Liquor Control Board to prepare the regulations necessary for the establishment of mixed drinking in Calgary and Edmonton "without any undue delay whatever" Hon. F. C. Colborne, minister without portfolio, said today.

The decision is being taken following the Oct. 30 plebiscite in which both Calgary and Edmonton voted overwhelmingly in favor of men and women being allowed to drink beer in the same establishment.

The two cities were the only ones in Alberta where the privilege was not allowed. Calgary voted 49,338 for mixed drinking and 11,455 against.

Hoffa Wins Delay

NEW YORK (AP)—James R. Hoffa today won postponement of his federal court perjury trial until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on the admissibility of state-obtained wiretaps as evidence.

Fallout 'Negligible' In U.K. Nuclear Blast

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced she exploded a nuclear weapon at a high altitude today over the central Pacific.

The explosion heralded the start of a new series of British tests in the area of Christmas Island. Last May and June British nuclear scientists fired off three H-bombs in an opening series.

Today's announcement followed by only a few hours British rejection of another Japanese request that she call off plans for new H-bomb tests in the Pacific. Japanese Ambassador Haruhiko Nishi then asked that Britain accept responsibility for any damage to Japanese lives and property which might result from the new tests.

The ministry of supply said indications are that radioactive fallout from today's blast will be negligible.

Summit Talk Useless Now, Asserts Lloyd

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today turned down a suggestion by Nikita Khrushchev for an early summit conference of Communist and western governments.

He told the House of Commons there is nothing in Russia's deeds to suggest that such a meeting now could accomplish any purpose.

"Summit talks which are a failure do more harm than no talks at all," Lloyd said. "But that does not mean that we believe no summit talks should ever take place."

Lloyd cited last year's Hungarian incident as proof of Russia's determination to ruthlessly suppress any attempt to break away from a Communist empire.

Lloyd said Soviet Communist party secretary Khrushchev recently has seemed to imply that Britain has become a second-rate power.

"Many others have made that miscalculation before," Lloyd asserted.

Sputnik Dog Unlikely to Live Much Longer, Signals Indicate

MOSCOW (UP)—Observers speculated today that the Sputnik dog will not live very much longer.

The official Soviet news agency Tass has reported the dog, Laika (Little Barker) is still alive but the communiqué indicated only the dog's basic reactions are being registered.

The agency said equipment on the earth "continued registering the main physiological functions of the animal... in Satellite II."

Previous communiqués said the health of the dog was satisfactory.

There were hints that the dog might eventually be brought back to earth alive, but a leading Soviet scientist said early this week the dog might not live more than ten days.

Radio signals from Sputnik II have kept Soviet scientists informed of Laika's breathing and circulation.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio said Sputnik II completed 68 revolutions around the earth by 6 a.m. today.

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet radio expert said today that specially designed "complex radio equipment" steered Sputnik II and its passenger dog into their orbit around the earth.

Hundreds Watch as Bennett Cuts Ribbon to Open Kootenay Bridge

NELSON (CP)—The new $4,000,000 bridge crossing the west arm of Kootenay Lake at Nelson was opened Thursday afternoon as a beaming Premier Bennett cut a broad green ribbon in front of toll gates at the southern approach.

Hundreds of people stood on the sidewalks in the frost-tinged sunshine to watch the ceremonies.

Then the cavalcade carrying the premier, three of his cabinet ministers, city council members, and hundreds of private cars, crawled across the span, led by brightly tartaned pipers and drummers of the Kootenay Klitte Band.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, who conducted ceremonies from the official platform adjacent to the gates, called the bridge "an imposing and important structure."

"The government, without promises and fanfare, has recognized the importance of this part of the country by building this bridge."

Later, after he had introduced Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Agriculture Minister N. P. Steacey, and had expressed regret at the absence of Nelson-Creston MLA Hon. W. D. Black, III as a result of influenza, a woman in the crowd cried out: "Where's Mr. Sommers?"

Mr. Gagliardi paused, looked around, and punned: "I've never in my life."

ON FIRST, LAST FERRY RUN

Passengers on the first Nelson ferry run 44 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Amas, 3913 Quadra, were also aboard for the final run Thursday, the day the new $4,000,000 Nelson bridge was opened by Premier Bennett. The toll bridge, 2,100 feet long, spans the west arm of Kootenay Lake, connecting north-south roads.

TEACHERS

graduate from training colleges. Victoria is not attracting sufficient replacement teachers.

"While past reception of new building schemes has been frustrating and disappointing in the extreme, there is yet to be shown any real opposition to salary increases for teachers actually exists.

"If there were such, surely you would not now be begging the community to give you a contest at the polls this December."

SOOKE BOOST

The Sooke school district wage request—16 per cent or $17,875 for 70 teachers—represents a 2½-mill increase in the district tax rate for schools.

Sooke school board chairman John Williams said the request follows hard on the heels of a 10 per cent increase granted last year.

He said this caused the 1957 board to reduce school maintenance in order to avoid "a sharp rise in school taxes."

"Judging by the amounts of the current demands it appears that they were submitted on the recommendation of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, as the board was informed that the demands represented one-third of a planned three-year campaign of salary increases by that body.

"We are well aware," said Mr. Williams, "of a present serious shortage of qualified teachers in the province and of the need to attract more of our brighter students into the teaching profession.

NO CURE-ALL

"However, we are not convinced that continuous substantial salary increases are the cure-all for this problem."

He said his board had previously agreed "reasonable salary increases" would be considered, "we were totally unprepared to consider increases amounting to more than $1,000 in certain categories, which would put some of our teachers in the $9,000 bracket."

He said little hope of substantial increases exists until the department of education increases salary grant formula.

"Although we have been promised a revision in the grant structure, no relief has as yet been forthcoming, and any salary increases are thus a direct charge on the local taxpayer."

He said the board does not intend to cut school maintenance or improvement this year in order to pay higher salaries, while commending the cordial relations between the teachers and the board.

Doubt Burgess, Maclean Killed

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today discounted reports the former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean have been liquidated in Russia.

Answering a question at his daily press conference, a foreign office spokesman said: "I have no reason to believe these reports to be correct."

There were circulated following the return to the United States from Moscow of an American congressman who said that a letter suggesting the two men had met with an "accident" had been surreptitiously placed in his pocket.

Pittsburgh Busless

PITTSBURGH (AP)—This steel metropolis today struggled along for the 26th straight day without its main mass transportation system as losses from a strike mounted into millions of dollars.

EFFEL TOWER TOO MUCH FOR EVEREST CONQUEROR

PARIS (AP)—Tensing Norqay, one of the conquerors of Everest, climbed the Eiffel Tower today by elevator and only to the first level. "Too foggy," he said.

The 43-year-old Nepalese Sherpa, who reached the top of Mount Everest 29,002 feet to the tower's 984 with Sir Edmund Hillary in 1953, is winding up a European tour. He said before heading home to his mountain guide school that he'd like to try Everest again some time but he's too busy right now.

THEY ALL TALK ABOUT—

Sputnik Oddities Around the World

LONDON (Reuters)—Two Londoners were overheard discussing Russian and American Sputnik projects today.

"This second Russian earth satellite with the dog weighs 1,118 pounds," said one, "and the one the Americans plan to send up is only 4½ pounds."

"Yes," said the other man,

"the Russians send up the dog and the Yanks send up the fleas."

LIMOGES, France (Reuters)—Farmer Rene Richard claims the first Russian satellite has made one of his hens lay a satellite-shaped egg. It is perfectly round and has three projections from the shell, he said.

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—The Buffalo county board of mental health Thursday night ordered R. O. Schmidt, 58-year-old "space ship" story teller, committed to the state hospital for observation and treatment.

Schmidt last Tuesday told a fantastic story of visiting on the banks of the Platte River a "space ship" manned by four "space men" and two "space women."

DETROIT (AP)—Dog officer Harold F. Baker of suburban Huntington Woods has obtained a warrant charging Laika, the dog passenger on Russia's Sputnik II, with being at large without a dog licence.

The warrant charges Laika was within the city limits early Thursday as Sputnik passed overhead. The warrant is returnable in justice court Nov. 26—if Baker is able to serve it.

'LOVES TO WANDER'

Five-Year-Old Boy Missing 11 Hours

A blonde five-year-old boy, found at 11 p.m. after he had been missing from his home for 11 hours Thursday, slept long into the morning today.

At 9.30 he was still sleeping the sleep of the adventurous. "Usually he's awake and jumping around at 7," his grandmother Mrs. J. D. Peterson, 156 Joseph said.

Christopher Cook had been the object of a search by two shifts of city police, naval shore patrol, soldiers and 40 Fairfield district neighbors after Mrs. Peterson reported him missing at 7.30 p.m.

The little boy was found by searchers at about 11, curled asleep in a garage two doors from his home.

Christopher had been playing with a friend until 5 p.m., then left him, and apparently followed a cat into the garage.

The boy, who had refused to put on a jacket at noon, stayed to get warm and fell asleep. Taken home to his mother Mrs. June Cook, he was put into a hot bath and fed a mid-night snack.

His mother and grandmother were "relieved, happy and just a bit annoyed."

B.C. Inventor Offers U.S. Better 'Moon'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver inventor says he has offered the U.S. government a "revolutionary flying saucer-type" aircraft that he claims will out-distance Sputniks.

Inventor Alex Johnson said he has already moved "material" by using a fantastically lightweight motor that uses a new power of "energy."

With a full crew, he says, his circular machine will reach a speed of 9,000 miles a minute and will stay in the air 15 days.

"We could be on the moon within a year," he said.

The U.S. government is interested, says Mr. Johnson, who has a letter signed by General Samuel Anderson, chief of the air research and development board in Washington, offering an interview with Gen. Paul Ney, head of the Los Angeles branch of the board.

Mr. Johnson says he will not offer the new invention to Canada because he doubts whether Ottawa has enough money to put the machine in the air.

He wants $1,000,000 with which he says he can produce a model to prove his claim.

Wider Coverage Urged In Hospital Scheme

Increasing provincial pressure for wider coverage in the federal government's proposed national hospital insurance scheme indicates that it will be officially or otherwise a main topic of interest at the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa later this month.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has invited at least one provincial leader—Premier Campbell of Manitoba—to raise the question of including mental and TB patients under the plan's coverage at the meeting Nov. 25 and 26.

The federal government—and particularly Health Minister Monteith—have been giving close study to a list of proposals for reconsideration approved at a Toronto meeting of provincial health officials in September.

These include coverage for mental and TB patients under the proposed scheme and higher federal contributions toward hospital construction.

This was disclosed in correspondence tabled by Mr. Diefenbaker in the House.

It includes a letter from Premier Campbell to Mr. Diefenbaker dated last Aug. 1 in which the premier says: "Manitoba is definitely committed to the program on the understanding that . . . it is to become operative."

Manitoba's acceptance of the hospital insurance plan brings to seven the number of provinces which have said they will join. The others are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

However, federal payments to any province for hospital insurance care are not expected to start until at least Jan. 1, 1959. That is the date which Ontario has set for the start of its plan.

LIBERAL TELLS TORIES

'Carry Out Election Promises'

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal spokesman said Thursday the Progressive Conservative government should not call an election until it has carried out its election promises.

Walter Tucker (L. Rosthern) said in the Commons that as long as the government receives the support of a majority in the House it should "stay right here and do that job" without seeking to dissolve Parliament.

The former Saskatchewan Liberal leader charged the government was "flagrantly and defiantly" breaking promises it had made to improve aid to veterans.

ELECTION THINKING

Mr. Tucker, Liberal spokesman on veterans affairs, said the government apparently is thinking of an early election. "I hope that that thinking does not prevail because I do not think it is in accordance with the wishes of the people of Canada."

Mr. Tucker spoke in debate on a government bill to boost war veterans' allowance payments to needy single veterans—payments to married veterans will remain unchanged—and increase allowable income ceilings. Allowance coverage will be extended to an estimated 4,500 needy veterans or their dependents.

The bill received second reading—approval in principle—at the night sitting after Walter Dinsdale, parliamentary assistant to the Veterans' Affairs Minister, said the government found many shortcomings in the act. He said it was "quite impossible to rectify all the mistakes and all the shortcomings of the previous administration in one short month of the parliamentary session."

In due course there would be an opportunity—probably next year—for a more comprehensive review of the veterans' charter.

The bill was passed just at adjournment of the night sitting and sent to the Senate.

Veterans' Minister Brooks said that although the changes are to be effective as of Nov. 1, there may be some delay in getting out the increased payments because of the time needed to deal with each individual case.

Mr. Tucker based his criticisms on a comparison of the changes with what he said had been the stand of Conservatives before the election.

H. W. Herdridge (CCF-Kootenay West) said the new government should have increased allowances to married veterans to $140, as the Canadian Legion had requested, instead of making no change. He was sorry the government had not proposed to raise permissible incomes to $1,200 and $2,000 as suggested by the Legion.

Merchant seamen who served during the war years should receive the same kind of treatment as veterans of the armed forces.

Pakistan's first comprehensive agricultural census will be taken early in 1959.

The People's Liberties

AS A MEMBER OF THE PARLIAMENTARY opposition Mr. Diefenbaker, to his credit, repeatedly advocated a Canadian Bill of Rights. He says he has not forgotten that project, now that he leads the Government.

Of course he cannot be expected to do everything at once but he is working on a Bill of Rights. Probably it is one of those hard, divisive issues that will be conveniently postponed until after the next election.

But meanwhile this whole question of protecting the Canadian citizen's personal liberties has entered a new and perhaps decisive stage in the courts of Quebec. There Mr. Diefenbaker's notorious and oddly-named Freedom of Worship Act is being challenged as an invasion of personal liberty and a violation of the Canadian Constitution.

The present litigation arises out of the celebrated prosecution of a Jehovah's Witness named Saumur, who was arrested in Quebec City because he distributed the literature of his sect. After long delay the Supreme Court of Canada decided, in 1953, that the civic by-law under which Saumur had been prosecuted was unconstitutional.

This was an historic decision but very confusing. Four Supreme Court judges held that no provincial legislature has the right to prevent citizens from distributing printed matter. Four judges took the opposite view. The ninth, now Chief Justice Kerwin, found that the by-law violated an old provincial statute, not that it violated the Constitution.

Thus, in a series of complex judgments, five judges apparently believed that a provincial legislature can interfere with the citizen's right to distribute printed matter; can, in fact, control publication, a basic liberty. And if the legislatures can do that then we can have in Canada ten different sets of rules, ten variable different rights of citizenship in the ten provinces.

This invasion of a common Canadian citizenship is what worries men like Mr. Diefenbaker and makes them demand a Bill of Rights which will make certain, once and for all, that only the national Parliament can legislate on personal liberty and that some liberties can never be violated by any authority whatever.

More Scientists for Canada

MR. DIEFENBAKER'S suggestion of a national educational plan to produce more scientists in Canada is highly significant in several respects.

The plan, he says, would be "within the limits of the constitution." By the terms of the British North America Act, education falls directly under provincial jurisdiction. But there is nothing in the act to stop the Federal Government from giving financial assistance to universities. Indeed, a substantial measure of assistance was given by the preceding administration.

The Prime Minister's concern over the scarcity of scientists is shared widely. So, too, in educational circles, is his belief that study of sciences alone is not enough, that the humanities cannot be neglected, since, as he puts it, "there is more to life than a test tube."

How then does Mr. Diefenbaker intend to stimulate the development of scientists through an educational plan which would not invade provincial jurisdiction?

The simplest and most straightforward means of reaching his objective would probably be the provision of federally financed scholarships, or student aid, to give Canada's bright young people the fullest possible opportunity to develop their talents as scholars and as scientists.

The method of selecting students most suitable for federally-subsidized higher education should not pose any difficulties. A proper set of examinations, coupled with reports from teachers and the use of current ability-testing devices should be sufficient to disclose the most promising material.

A distinguished United States public figure the other day stated that what his country needed was not a rocket, but a family of rockets. Mr. Diefenbaker, in his proposal, appears to go deeper into the matter. What Canada needs is not so much a rocket, or family of rockets, as a family, and a large family, of scientists capable of producing them—and advancing other scientific work of value for peacetime use as well as defence.

The public awaits with interest further details of the Prime Minister's plan.

Saving Their Water in Bags

BECAUSE A BOUNTIFUL PROVIDENCE has given this community and this province more water than it can use at present, conservation efforts in other parts of the world may have academic interest only for our people.

Yet since water means life, the scientific developments in Australia, where human ingenuity is moving into relatively arid regions and converting them into productive lands, assumes general importance.

Thanks to the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization, some parts of Australia can now put a lid on meagre water supplies to prevent evaporation. In other sections, through the same agency, farmers are virtually able to put the fluid contents of dirt reservoirs in a bag.

The research organization has found that a compound, hexadecanol, can be dropped on the top of a reservoir and spread out to form a waxy film one molecule thick which reduces evaporation by as much as 37 per cent.

An application of the substance to the reservoir of an inland Australian town has saved as much as six weeks' summer consumption which would otherwise have been drawn into the air and lost.

By other experiments the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization has devised another technique to check water loss by seepage through earth dams.

Such losses can run one-half to three-quarters higher than by evaporation. But the application of an antiseepage polythene plastic coating applied to the floor of earth dams provides an inexpensive sealer.

Science is moving against those "natural" conditions which have destroyed land productivity in the dry sections of Australia. It has not conquered the desert, but it is working at the perimeter. More land is being reclaimed to feed a hungry world.

Three Strikes and Out

WHEN VICTORIA LET GO

By B. A. TOBIN

After Nearly Forty Years

AT this late date it's a little difficult to separate the celebration of the False Armistice of Nov. 8, 1918, from the real one on Nov. 11. I can remember only that people set out to "do" the first one and the spree was well under way before the disappointing word came through that the war was still on. In those days every big holiday was marked by the sale of silk lapel ribbons on which coats-of-arms, dates and other information were printed. About all I can remember of the False Armistice—with that illogical retention of a child's memory—is the comments about what vendors would do with their surplus stocks of useless souvenir ribbons printed Nov. 8, or what the buyers would do with them either.

Bigger and Better

You might think that such a trial run would have taken the edge off the celebrations three days later. On the contrary, it seemed to stimulate them even more. The disappointment of the first day added even more relief and joy to the realization of the second.

It is the general atmosphere of that great day that sticks in memory, rather than individual details.

There is a confused recollection of everything in town closing up and the people pouring into the streets. The response was instantaneous, as though everyone had been waiting for a starter's gun—as well they might have been. But it was towards dark that things reached a crescendo.

There must have been a lot of firecrackers left over from Halloween that year. I cannot explain otherwise how, almost a month later, the town seemed suddenly flooded with them. Armistice night remains for me a crackling roar of firecrackers, popping about the heads and heels of the crushing throng on the city streets until the air seemed chokingly thick with the acrid smoke of them.

Crowded Streets

Fort Street, Government, Douglas Street, Yates: they all appear in retrospect to have been jammed from wall to wall. Crowds surged elbow-to-elbow up the sidewalks, up the gutters, up the roadways. What little motor traffic there was became stalled for the duration.

Everyone wore souvenirs of one sort or another, whisked off by vendors in double-quick time. "Tin pans, whistles, cowbells, shouts and almost hysterical laughter tried to drown out the bang of firecrackers.

But strongest of all in memory are the "bombs." Paper bags filled with flour were hurled in all directions, spattering good coats, old coats, good hats, old hats. Everyone in the crowd seemed to have a bag or two to throw, and those who didn't carried huge floured powder-puffs on sticks, which they dabbed in the grinning, sometimes tear-streaked, faces of passers-by.

There appears to have been little objective in the crowd. It surged this way and that, expecting to see something new in each block, and finding only more people looking for the same thing. Many a man greeted the Armistice news by opening a bottle of champagne that he had stored away years ago for "the day." That was the day the city itself popped its cork, and four years' fear, hope, anxiety and relief poured out in an effervescent torrent.

Somebody started a bonfire in the middle of Fort Street, just a few yards off Government, and it burned for an hour on the wooden blocks of the roadway. The streets became filled with enough debris to keep a dozen fires going.

I have no idea what formal observances there were, what official speeches, what church services. I do not know what the premier did, or the mayor. I know only that Victoria stood on its toes and screamed in a way never duplicated before or since—not even in 1945.

But Afterwards . . .

Afterwards, of course, more sober thoughts came. Women and children returned to homes where "Dad's chair" stood empty, and would remain so. Mothers, in the quiet of too-quiet houses, looked at irreplaceable photographs, and looked away. For many the Armistice never came, for many it came too late. It is significant that now, nearly 40 years later, theirs is the mood that has survived. The cheering and the shouting are faint and far-off, the gaiety nearly forgotten. As it must always be at the level of the individual, war's losses outweigh and outlast war's gains. It's a lesson mankind has been taught for centuries, but never quite learned.

The work of Satagit Ray and other Asian film-makers of distinction means that the formal painted mask—the Asian face as seen by uninformed Western eyes—begins to slip away, and underneath is seen the smiling or the tear-laden, the strained or the joyful face of humankind—the kind we know by experience in our own part of the world, the part on which our own hands are laid with the touch of love and familiarity.

'Men and Money' Plea for Better Forest Management

(Fifth of a series)

A STATEMENT by Dr. G. S. Allen, Dean of the Forestry Faculty at the University of British Columbia, quoted by Chief Justice Sloan in his report, spells out the answer to many of the problems in provincial forestry. In shortened form it says: "There are few basic problems that could not be solved . . . given the necessary time and funds." The dean was referring to the ability of scientists and experts in the various departments, schools and faculties of the University to produce the answers.

A paraphrase of the statement could be an exact and repetitive reply by leading figures of the B.C. Forest Service to critical questions raised over the administration of British Columbia's most important resource.

Their paraphrase would say: "Given the men and the funds."

The commissioner states:

"In the writing of this report I have had occasion to record criticism of the Forest Service administration, but it must also be recorded and emphasized that there was a unanimity of opinion—with which I concur—that the officials of the service are sincere and dedicated men of sterling honesty diligently performing their responsible and arduous duties. Criticisms relating to administration in most part, if not wholly, results from lack of trained personnel in the service."

Elsewhere in his report the Chief Justice notes that there are insufficient trained, particularly university-trained, forestry experts to meet the demands both of industry and government.

Industry tends to lessen the supply available to the Forest Service because it pays higher salaries for good men. Industry draws to itself not only its percentage of graduates fresh from university, but many who have added to their value by experience in the Forest Service.

Without foresters, says the commissioner, the management policy in all its aspects, technical and operational, is a

Meaning of Sputnik II

IN the virtually unanimous opinion of the experts, Sputnik II proves beyond serious question that the Western world is in deadly danger. This is the unpleasant truth which lies behind all the reassuring protestations that the Soviet satellites have "no military implications."

The military implications of Sputnik II fall into two categories. The first category concerns the meaning of Sputnik II in terms of the long-range ballistic missiles. The second category concerns the military meaning of Sputnik II itself.

Even before the boasts from Moscow of a "new power source," experts in the United States were speculating, in the wake of Sputnik II, about the possibility that the Soviets had discovered an entirely new rocket fuel. There seemed no other logical explanation of the Soviet success in launching into orbit a satellite weighing half a ton.

"With the stuff we've got," one expert said, "we just wouldn't know how to do it."

"Either they've got a new fuel," another said, "or they've developed a rocket motor with a thrust of a million pounds. I don't know which would be worse."

Whether or not the Soviets have developed a new fuel, Sputnik II unquestionably means that Nikita Khrushchev's boast last Sunday, that the Soviets already have "intercontinental rockets" capable of "delivering hydrogen bomb warheads to any point in the globe" must be taken entirely seriously. So must his boast that the American "military bases in Europe, Africa and Asia" have "long since" been subject to missile attack.

Ahead of Time

Before Sputnik II, it was the consensus of those best able to judge that the Soviets would not have a fully operational intermediate ballistic missile system until about the end of 1958, and that they were not yet producing operational intercontinental missiles capable of hitting targets in this country.

Now the consensus is that the Soviets must already have an IRBM system capable of threatening U.S. forward strategic air force bases; and that they must have operational ICBMs already in production.

The purpose of the Soviet missiles, as Khrushchev has made entirely clear, is to neutralize the Strategic Air Command. Since SAC is the heart of the free world's strength, the "military implications" of Sputnik II are grim enough in this category. But there is a growing body of belief that the Soviet satellites may have enormous military meaning in themselves.

Sputnik Spy

As reported in February, 1956, in this space, the United States is working on a reconnaissance satellite, capable of detecting important military movements and concentrations anywhere in the world. But "Project Big Brother," as the reconnaissance satellite program has been informally dubbed, is still in the blueprint stage. This is largely because the missile art in the U.S. has not yet reached the stage where the necessarily heavy equipment for an effective reconnaissance satellite could be launched into orbit.

But the half-ton weight of Sputnik II would be amply sufficient to carry the equipment for an effective spy satellite. So it must also be assumed that the Soviets have, or soon will have, effective reconnaissance satellites, and this alone has immensely important military implications.

Yet what has scared some of the experts more than anything else is the hint that the Soviets may be able to bring down the unfortunate dog in Sputnik II, or some later Sputnik, still alive, at a pre-designated spot. If the Soviets actually succeed in doing so, a great collective shiver will go through the whole scientific and intelligence community.

Is It Impossible?

For it is now possible to pack into a few hundred pounds of weight a thermonuclear weapon with a province-destroying punch. For technical reasons involving the problems of atmospheric re-entry and accurate guidance and control, it had always been assumed among American experts that a satellite which would be itself a weapon, capable of carrying and delivering a thermonuclear weapon, was virtually impossible of achievement. There is no known active project to achieve such a weapon-satellite going forward in the United States.

Yet if a dog in a sealed space capsule can be successfully re-entered at a chosen place, why not a bomb? And if one such weapon-satellite can be launched, why not dozens, to form above the whole world a universal sword of Damocles, controlled from Moscow.

This is, of course, a nightmare, but it is a nightmare which will take on a certain color of reality if the little dog on Sputnik II or future Russian satellites ever again treads the earth. But even if that never happens, the danger to the West, of which Sputnik II serves as a symbol, is deadly enough. Surely, in the circumstances, the time has come for truth-telling, and fact-finding, and an end to official complacency.

Remembrance

Soft muffled drums, now: "Lord with me abide!"

Faint echoes of the Last Post fade away. Low at the column's base for those who died.

We place our wreaths on this Remembrance Day.

Half-mast upon a staff the banner flies; Within a tomb an unknown warrior sleeps.

Awaiting Reveille's summons to arise And greet his Maker when the Reaper reaps.

Scornful of life and careless of the cost, In far-off lands they heard the call of war.

And proudly, rank on rank, from coast to coast,

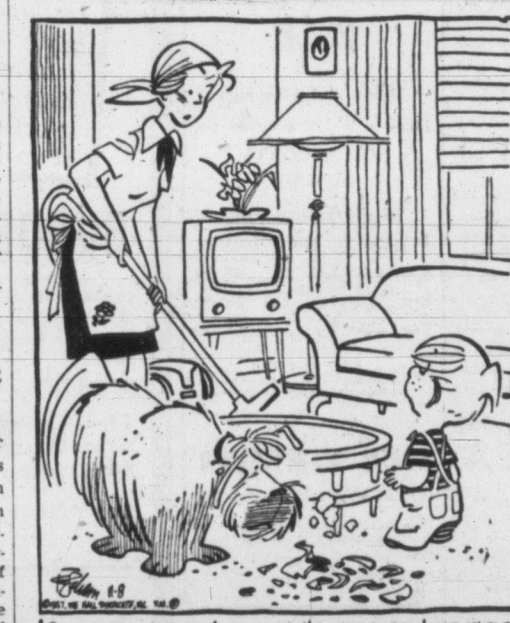

They gathered to the colours from afar.

O valiant Dead!—sublime is your reward What time the debtor shall the debt repay.

Sleep on!—a sorrowing Nation stands on guard And will acclaim thee on the Judgment Day.

See What I Mean? --- I Can't

THE gentleman who drove me home Wednesday night dropped me at the corner so he could make the turn, follow the white line on the road and eventually reach his own garage.

I stumbled along, enjoying the unfamiliar bulk of trees looming up through the heavy mist and the general sense of newness and strangeness a familiar scene assumes when the air is opaque.

Finally I pushed through my own door, stood in the dazzling light and pronounced dramatically to the lady there: "Madame, I've been in a fog."

She looked up from the game of bridge she was playing all by herself to query, "To you that's new?"

It's that way in our house. If you want to be dramatic, you have to give a first-class performance. Anything less draws only a yawn, a hollow laugh or a comment that whistles you down to size.

And come to think of it, being in a fog isn't too unusual in my case. I very seldom see things in sharp black and white. Usually they're grey and a bit indefinite in outline. This, I rationalize, is because of an inherent tolerance. I'm not a positivist. For years I've believed that how a thing looks depends largely on where you sit.

CURTAINS IN BETWEEN

Also, the outline of the image is modified by the intervening shades of opinion you acquire through experience.

My outlook may be influenced, too, by an inclination to physical myopia. As the kids say, "I don't see so good so far."

I'm conscious of the fact that my disability robs me of a great deal.

For night on half a century I've lived by the water. Never in that time have I seen "Caddy." I've been in the Okanagan when "The Courier" has carried stories on Ogozgo carvoting in the lake. But it never showed for my benefit.

Stott

Even this year, when our new neighbors began to enjoy the delights of waterfront living, they were able to pick out things to which I was blind.

They asked me, in high excitement one afternoon, if I had seen the seals playing near the mouth of the bay. I looked in the general direction, and all I could see was a ground swell twisting and lifting over the reefs out there. When I put the glass on the scene, the movement of water did look as if animals were thrashing around just below the surface and breaking water occasionally. But I couldn't see a seal.

NU THERE, THE COMET

This summer, on a visit to Brentwood, friends held my head pointing in the right direction and focussed their binoculars on the comet to make sure I had a glimpse of it. It took about half an hour to convince me, but I did see the comet—I think.

Once, fishing in the Strait with a cousin who had been an RCAF tail-gunner, we picked up the drone of a distant aircraft.

"There it is," he told me.

I screwed up my eyes and squinted into the wide blue yonder before asking "Where."

"Just about 12 o'clock," he said.

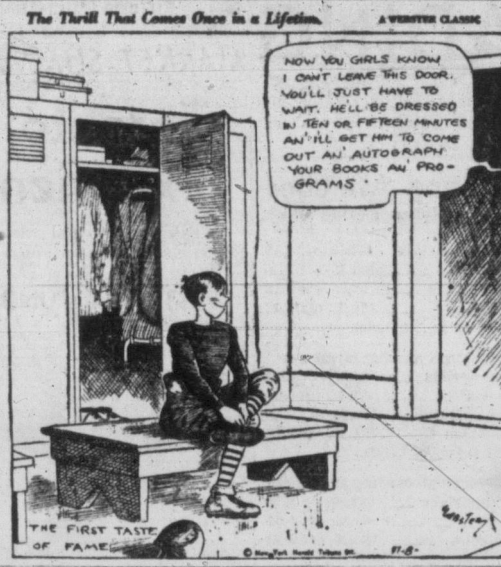

Merely to seem informed I queried: "One of ours?"

"One of ours," he replied. "Can't you see it? Boy, I'd hate to have you sitting over my tail gun."

You see? I don't see.

So I don't bother looking for the "niks" sput mutt or Zhuk. When I lift my eyes to the skies at night, it's only to look at the stars or the moon. Maybe I don't see as many stars as people with sharper eyes, but my loss is only relative. There are so many stars which the people of finest vision cannot see that my reduced perception is negligible.

Still, I'd like to have a good view of "Caddy." And I can't understand why it's denied me. After all, a man of my easy familiarity with leprechauns should be able to establish contact with a friendly sea monster even in a fog—if you see what I mean.

OFFER TICKETS TO MOON

Happy Russians Revel at Party

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Russians were tickled pink. They undoubtedly had scored Thursday night one of the great social successes of the season. The dark mood of the Hungarian revolt was gone.

The austere, limestone Russian embassy was alive with laughter and an assortment of pretty gowns, jewels and ermine. The three reception halls were jammed with diplomats from both East and West — along with top representatives of the Canadian government — come to help the Russians celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Communist revolution.

The success of the Soviet in launching the two earth-girdling Sputniks was the main theme of conversation.

ARDUOUS CHORE

So heavy was the line of guests that Soviet Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin stood for more than two hours, shaking hands with arrivals. He had time for one drink and then got back in the line to wish the guests farewell.

"Why haven't you gone to the moon?" asked a reporter with a smile.

"Give us time," replied Mr. Chuvahin with good cheer. "You are in too much of a hurry."

The reception halls grew hot as the guests piled up, scrambling for the turkey, sucking pig, caviar, shrimp and other delicacies spread on three large tables. Vodka and other beverages flowed freely from three bars.

The mood was gay, a striking contrast to the grimness of Mr. Chuvahin's reception a year ago when the Russians had marched into Hungary and in bloodshed stamped out a revolt.

Acclamation Possible for Council Seats

Concern at a lack of candidates to contest council seats in Victoria next month was expressed Thursday by returning officer M. F. Hunter.

With less than a month to nomination day (Dec. 5), there is no sign of a contest developing. Mayor Scurrah and three aldermen have signified they will stand for re-election. Ald. J. Donald Smith, who holds the fourth seat which expires next month, has not made his plans known.

As the picture now stands, Victoria's 1957 council could be returned by acclamation.

On the same date, during the last aldermanic election campaign in 1955, there were three candidates in the running for the mayoralty and three candidates other than incumbent aldermen had entered the race for council.

Mr. Hunter pointed out qualifications for a candidate for mayor or council are greatly reduced this year and the election contest is open to a far wider number of residents.

Candidates no longer require $500 clear equity in their property. Now anyone who was on the voters list last year as a property owner, may run for office this year. If he is a British subject, over 21 years of age.

No Tax Freedom For Orphanage, Committee Says

Victoria council finance committee Thursday reluctantly recommended against continuance of property tax exemptions for the B.C. Protestant Orphanage.

The committee was advised the exemption is not permitted under the new Municipal Act unless the institution caters exclusively to orphans or destitute children.

The home cares for children from broken families in many cases and receives some payment toward their support from relatives. This was stated to be about $15 a month on the average while cost of care was closer to $60 for the same period.

Care of orphans in recent years has been the responsibility of Family and Children's Service. A modern opinion of social workers is that such children should be brought up in foster homes rather than in group institutions, officials state.

In the past, the B.C. Protestant Orphanage has been granted a tax exemption for $7,110 of its $12,300 gross assessment.

Six Oz. Enough RCMP Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—RCMP driving tests indicate about six ounces of liquor or five pints of beer may be enough to make impaired drivers of most motorists.

An RCMP report on the testing, issued Thursday, also showed doctors scored poorly when they tried to determine whether the drivers who participated were impaired.

Fifty men of various ages, weights and driving experience took part in the tests, conducted in 1955, and designed so that any difference in drinking and non-drinking performance could be measured statistically. The driving was spread out over three days, before and after the motorists drank measured quantities of alcoholic beverages.

Results of about 200 medical examinations were compared with drivers' performances to determine how reliable the medical evaluation of impaired driving ability was.

MD'S MISS OFTEN

One doctor failed to detect impairment in 50 per cent of subjects who showed evidences of impairment in the driving tests. Another doctor, familiar with the men's behavior in the absence of alcohol, did not detect impairment in 26 per cent of them.

Findings of an 11-man committee were that a majority of the men were impaired when they had .08 per cent alcohol in the bloodstream. This percentage would result if a 180-pound person drank roughly six ounces of spirits or about five bottles of beer.

The report called for a uniform, country-wide system of accident reporting to enable full evaluation of the relationship between alcohol and traffic accidents.

In a foreword to the report, RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson said surveys indicate drinking is a factor in at least 25 per cent of traffic fatalities. An estimated 90 per cent of traffic accidents probably involved a drinking driver.

The report also said readings by breath analysis equipment underestimated the concentration of alcohol in the blood in two of every three cases.

The committee's Report outlined procedures which, it said, could be used to determine closely the amount of alcohol in the blood stream through analysis of blood and urine. It added the procedures would be safe for use in the majority of court cases because the result would be lower instead of higher than the actual alcohol concentration in the blood.

CITY CHILD BADLY BURNED

Severe burns to both hands were sustained by Randall Wright, nine-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wright, 2190 Nell, Thursday morning when he leaned into a hot oven.

The young boy is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

He had been crawling in the kitchen and managed to pull open the oven door of an electric stove, then climbed to standing position and leaned with his hands inside the oven.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

Door Still Closed

NEW YORK—India's efforts to pry the door of the United Nations open for Communist China failed in the General Assembly, but there is little doubt that the Indians did manage to weaken the position of the Nationalist Chinese in the process.

What happened was a victory for the United States, which has not wavered over the years in its opposition to the admission of Communist China. At the last General Assembly session, there was an increase in the support for Peiping when the resolution on the subject was introduced by India, rather than by Russia as had been the case in previous years.

It had been expected that there would be a further significant increase in support for the Red Chinese this year, but such was not the case—the American position held firm, and the debate on the subject was short, if not sweet.

The final vote, rejecting India's proposal to place the representation of China on the agenda and deciding not to have any further discussion of the matter at this session, was 48 to 27, with six abstentions. Last year, the vote on a similar resolution was 47 to 24, with eight abstentions—the only new supporters for the Chinese Communist cause this year were Ghana, Morocco and Ireland. Ghana had not been admitted to the UN when last year's vote was taken, and Morocco and Ireland at that time voted against Red China.

NOT WELCOME

There can not be much doubt that the vote this year was more than one against the Communists, rather than one in favor of the Nationalists. The Nationalist Chinese delegates here naturally were elated by the result, since it preserves their tenure in the Chinese seat here, and along with that their status as one of the five "Great Powers," possessing the veto power in the Security Council.

But it did nothing to improve the somewhat unenviable position in which the Nationalist Chinese find themselves. They represent a great Asian power, but they are not welcome in the councils of the African-Asian bloc of nations. The treatment that they are accorded here by a great many powers, quite beyond the contempt shown them by the Soviets and their satellites, must be hard to bear.

Canada Warns Against More FAO Spending

ROME (AP)—Canada, which pays the fifth highest share toward the operation of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, warned Thursday against increases in FAO spending.

Canada pays roughly close to 5 per cent of all FAO's costs. Only the United States, the United Kingdom, West Germany and France pay greater shares.

The warning by Canadian Agriculture Minister Harkness forecast what probably will be a lively debate in the FAO 74-country general conference here.

Director-General B. R. Sen of India has asked the conference to approve an increase in expenditures of roughly one-third. FAO's last budget called for expenditure of $6,800,000 in 1957. Sen asked for $8,600,000 in 1958 and $8,800,000 in 1959.

Everyone's Talking COATS

and Eddy's is the place to find them

Right now is the time to revel in the snug comfort of one of these winter-weight coats, many with the famous Milium lining. There are all-weather coats too, some tailored, some dressy, others in casual style. Harris Tweeds, worsteds and all wool, they feature such fashion details as push-up sleeves and cardigan collars. Look at the selection, and look at the price.

Glen Lake Flooding Subject of Surveys

LUXTON — Provincial water rights branch is conducting a survey of Bilston Creek to find a way to reduce flooding in the Happy Valley-Glen Lake area.

Trustee Stan Hiscock of the Bilston Creek Improvement District, which was formed to promote flood control in the area, said highways department crews have cleared major log jams in the creek.

The season is too far advanced to start major improvements this year, he said.

One of the perennial problems that should be eased will be the flooding of Dewdney flats, where water often covers Sooke Road for a stretch of almost a mile.

45-YEAR RESIDENT HERE

Drysdale Rites Today

Funeral service was to be held at McCall's Funeral Home today at 1.15 o'clock for Mrs. Jessie Drysdale, 67, 2802 Wark, a resident of Victoria for 45 years.

Mrs. Drysdale died Tuesday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Born in Woolich, England, she moved here as the wife of John Henry Drysdale. Following his death she was married in 1942 to Alex Drysdale.

Mrs. Drysdale is survived by the widower; three sons, John Henry Smythe, Duncan; Albert Frederick Smythe and Percy Douglas Smythe, both of Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Kinneard and Mrs. Susan Belton, both of Victoria, and nine grandchildren.

Canon Frederick Pike was to officiate at the funeral, with interment following in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Hospital Files Annual Report

DUNCAN — Revenue at King's Daughters' Hospital for the first nine months of the year was $417,239, hospital directors learned at their regular meeting.

Expenses for the same period were $405,527.

It was reported there were 18 operating room cancellations in one week, and seven medical patients were unable to obtain beds through lack of accommodation.

Total Eclipse Seen

TOKYO (Reuters) — Thousands of Tokyo residents crowded the capital's streets Thursday night to watch the first total lunar eclipse in 11 years.

NONA'S NEW LOVE

'Cat' Fascinates Fashion Editor

By DON INGHAM

Times fashion editor Nona Damaske went to Seattle last week to visit the Pacific Logging Congress with husband Howard, and to review the swank fashion show arranged for the wives of delegates, but was sidetracked in the machinery exhibit.

"I fell in love with a Cat," said Nona on return to Victoria. "It weighs 80,000 pounds, develops 320 horsepower at the drawbar, and costs $60,000 on Vancouver Island."

The "Cat" was a D-9 Caterpillar tractor, largest crawler-type tractor built, and one of the foundation stones of the North American earth-moving and construction industries.

Nona admitted she was not planning to elope with the big yellow machine, but was interested enough to pick up a few facts regarding its capabilities.

EARTH MOVERS

There are 65 in B.C., and four on Vancouver Island, all on earth-moving jobs. One of these is at the Nanaimo Lakes camp of Comox Logging Division, Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited, where it is used exclusively to build roads.

"The company's road builders used to break up all stumps in the way with explosive before digging them out," Nona said, "but now they can push out a stump of up to four feet without blasting. Their D-9 has saved them $22,000 in reduced powder charges."

The dozer blade is 18 feet wide and close to five feet high, and can push up to nine yards of earth at once.

Vancouver Island timber is not big enough to warrant its use in logging, but it has been used with success in handling the giant redwoods of California.

It has a six-cylinder engine of 64-inch bore by 8-inch stroke, and develops full power at 1,200 revolutions per minute.

"The fashion show was wonderful," Nona said, "but those huge, sturdy machines have their own kind of beauty too."

Juror's Absence Delays Inquest

COURTENAY (CP) — Failure of one juror to appear at an inquest Tuesday into the death of Frank Plowright caused adjournment to Saturday.

Coroner Thomas Menzies said a grave injustice had been done to the court by the absence of juror John Burns Timmins. Penalty for failing to appear for jury duty could be a $25 fine.

Forest Layoff Affects 200 Island Workers

A total of 450 men, including 200 on Vancouver Island, will be laid off tonight by Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited in a winter closure that comes six weeks earlier than usual.

Six operations will be affected, and they will be shut down for at least three months because of a high inventory of logs and a general slump in the forest products market.

Largest layoff is at the Courtenay and Quadra Island operations, where 200 men will lose their jobs. Others are at Saltery Bay on Jervis Inlet, 80 men; South Bentinck Arm, near Bella Coola, 45 men; Bella Coola, 50 men, and Sandspit, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, 75 men.

H. J. Hodgins, company's timber department manager, said as many men as possible will be retained to complete certain road construction.

Operations at Nanaimo Lakes, Comox Lake and Beaver Cove, near Englewood, will continue.

Indian Village Water System Almost Ready

DUNCAN — More than 8,000 feet of water line will be laid into Quamichan Indian village by Nov. 16, it was announced this week by an Indian affairs department spokesman.

Pipe will be taken to within 20 feet of the 26 homes in the area, and 2,200 feet of plastic pipe will be run to St. Catherine's Indian School on Tzouhalem Road.

TYPHOID

Work on the water system was prompted by an outbreak of typhoid on the reserve in September when one woman was hospitalized and a man was found to be a dormant carrier. Use of polluted water from Cowichan River was blamed by Indians for the disease.

Indians themselves are working on the water line, with one man running one of two ditch-digging machines and nine others doing hand jobs. Work on the line started Oct. 15.

Centennial To Be Theme Of Spion Kop

LADYSMITH — B.C. centennial will be the theme of the 1938 issue of "Spion Kop," annual publication of Ladysmith High School.

Staff will include Sharon Clayton, Ladysmith, and Patricia Beggs, Chemainus, editors-in-chief; Lorelei Uppgard, Ladysmith, and Ray Latta, Chemainus, business managers; Barbara Baker, Saltair, girls' activities; Alan Wargo, Ladysmith, boys' activities; George Harding, photography; Ray Wargo, Julie Rae, Richard Warda, Joanne McKenzie and Sandra Maunus, assistants.

Art Nicholson, staff representative on the magazine, said that last year the magazine placed in the first five from among 50 B.C. school magazines entered in a province-wide contest.

It will be eligible this year for entry in the provincial centennial committee contest.

Job Seekers Doubled In Vancouver

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—The total of job-seekers in Vancouver and New Westminster is nearly double what it was at this time last year, it was shown in figures released by the Unemployment Insurance Commission Thursday.

Vancouver had 21,461 jobless Oct. 31 and New Westminster 5,800. Not included are persons not entitled to unemployment benefits, the number of which is unknown.

WOULD FOIL BANDITS

VANCOUVER — Marked money will be carried by Vancouver taxi drivers in an effort to stem assaults by thugs.

Bud Taggart, president of the Vancouver Taxi Owners' Association, announced the move Thursday following the robbery of three Greater Vancouver taxi drivers in two days.

DRUG STORE ROBBED

VANCOUVER — A shabbily-dressed gunman held up a Vancouver drug store under cover of fog Thursday night and escaped with $75.

Owner Norman Baird of Baird's Pharmacy said the man, carrying an automatic revolver, ordered him to take the money from the till, grabbed it and fled.

FIRE ON CNR SHIP

VANCOUVER—Fire broke out today on the Canadian National steamship Prince George, berthed in Coal Harbor here. A CNR spokesman said he believed damage was minor.

TERRACE MAN KILLED

PRINCE RUPERT — Robert Ezra Hughes, 51, of Terrace, was killed Wednesday and Adam Milne also of Terrace was severely injured in a highway accident near Smithers. Milne is in hospital at Smithers in serious condition.

RCMP here reported it is believed the pickup truck in which the men were riding overturned on the highway.

CITY STATUS VOTED

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. — The village commissioner resigned Wednesday as Dawson Creek voted in favor of a change to city status. A mayor and four aldermen will be elected on the civic voting, expected either Dec. 18 or 21.

Fred Newby and Gordon Kittson automatically will become city aldermen in December, having one more year to serve on their two-year terms.

CRASH INJURES FOUR

KAMLOOPS — A two-car crash at an intersection here put three persons in hospital and slightly injured a fourth late Wednesday night.

8 New Stamps For Canadians During 1958

OTTAWA (CP)—Eight new postage stamps are to be issued during 1958, the post office department announced today.

Details of the stamps, being designed by Canadian artists, will be released progressively, the department said.

To be commemorated in the special issues are the press, the International Geophysical Year, the British Columbia's Centenary, the Canadian Nurses Association's 50th anniversary, Quebec City's 350th anniversary, the explorations of La Verendrye, the centenary of the discovery of oil in Canada and the 200th anniversary of the first elected assembly in what now is Canada.

The press stamp is scheduled to be issued Jan. 22 as the first of the eight.

EARNED RESPECT

"The periodicals published in Canada have earned a position of respect and influence," the department said. "A significant feature of the press industries of Canada is the progress of the Canadian Press, which recently celebrated 50 years as a co-operative news gathering agency."

The IGY stamp is to be issued in March, followed by the B.C. stamp in May.

Sinful Fashions Scored by Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (Reuters) — The Pope today warned against immodesty of dress, especially women's clothes and said "fashions must never furnish an occasion close to sin."

He told members of the Latin High-Fashion Union in a 3,500 word address: "The Catholic Church neither censures nor condemns fashions when they further just decorum and ornament of the body. But she never fails to put the faithful on guard against the easy depravation of fashions."

The Pope said any rehabilitation of fashions must begin with the intentions of designers and of those who wear them.

Speaking of immodesty, the Pope said: "It is often said, almost with inert resignation, that fashions express the morals of people."

"But it would be more correct and more useful to say that they express the will and the moral direction which a nation intends to take, that is, whether it wants to suffer shipwreck in the midst of licentiousness, or to maintain itself on the level to which religion and civilization have raised it."

WATER BIRD

Ike Appoints Science Chief

Tells Nation Russ Lead in Some Missiles; West Tops in Armed Might

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says Russia likely leads the United States in some areas of missile development. And he has appointed a scientist expediter to the job of pushing the U.S. ahead in this age of outer space weapons.

The president said Thursday night he is giving that big job to Dr. James R. Killian, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. At the same time he said the defence department is strengthening the hand of its own missile co-ordinator, William M. Holaday.

Eisenhower also revealed that U.S. scientists had solved the problem of bringing back missile parts from outer space. Pointing to a missile nose cone nearly three feet high at the side of his desk, he said:

"One difficult obstacle on the way to producing a useful long-range weapon is that of bringing a missile back from outer space without its burning up like a meteor, because of friction with the earth's atmosphere," Eisenhower said.

"Our scientists and engineers have solved that problem. This object here in my office is an experimental missile—a nose cone. It has been hundreds of miles to outer space and back. Here it is, completely unharmed—intact."

In a television and radio address, Eisenhower said the Russians not only are likely ahead in some missile and special weapons areas, but "are obviously ahead of us in satellite development."

"We frankly recognize that the Soviets are building up types of power that could, if we were attacked, damage us seriously. This is because no defensive system today can possibly be air-tight in preventing all breakthroughs of planes and weapons."

But on the reassuring side the president said this:

"As of today the overall military strength of the free world is distinctly greater than that of the Communist countries."

He went on to recount a nuclear superiority in which "we intend to stay ahead"—a family of 38 different kinds of missiles in operation or development; and such other U.S. strong points as atomic submarines, powerful air fleets, aircraft carriers and atomic depth bombs.

Eisenhower announced his appointment of the 53-year-old Killian in the first of a series of "chins-up" speeches designed to bolster confidence at home and abroad in the U.S. scientific development programs and defence generally.

LANDED SAFELY

Cone Shown On TV Talk Was Jupiter

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UP)—The rocket nose cone displayed during President Eisenhower's televised speech Thursday night came from the Jupiter missile program, spokesmen at Redstone arsenal said today.

The President said the cone had been far out in space and was recovered undamaged.

The recovery "demonstrated a technique by which a nose cone carrying a war head can be delivered on target and come down through the earth's atmosphere at terrific speed without disintegrating," an army spokesman at Redstone said.

The Jupiter can reach "extreme altitude" and cover a "considerable range," the spokesman added.

The army said it recovered the nose from the ocean in the firing last August, indicating they had accurate knowledge of where it would come down. The missile was fired from the test centre at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The Jupiter C has been fired 3,600 miles out to sea and about 650 miles high, the army claims.

Congress Must Be Talked Into Sharing U.S. Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's call for creation of a NATO scientific committee to speed the sharing of knowledge among allied nations seemed assured today, of enthusiastic acceptance by the European allies.

The test of Eisenhower's leadership on this issue will come in persuading Congress to grant him the necessary authority to share atomic weapons information.

He is expected to face more opposition on the issue in Congress than at a December meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris. Eisenhower will head the U.S. delegation to the Paris meeting.

"In the free world," Eisenhower said, "we all have a lot to give and a lot to gain in security through the pooling of scientific effort. Why should we deny to our friends information that we are sure the Soviets already have?—information our friends could use toward our mutual security."

He projected two moves bearing on allied relationships in the scientific field. He said he will ask Congress to "remove legal barriers to the exchange of appropriate technological information with friendly countries."

If this authority is granted, he said, he will support organization of a scientific committee within NATO "to carry out an enlarged Atlantic effort in research."

A similar group could possibly be set up within the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and other alliances, he suggested.

New Science Czar Making Early Start

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—this group will proceed with the utmost dispatch.

"The potential for advance is tremendous," he said, "and I feel that there is a sense of urgency, mission and dedication in the scientific and engineering community of the United States capable of meeting the need."

Appointed as a special White House assistant in science, Killian said "I am confident the American people can meet any crisis."

"A very strong scientific advisory group is an essential part of the plan and the recruiting of

Interservice Rivalry To Be Stopped

He said he was empowering Killian, who has a record of government service, to prevent needless delays, to crack down against any interservice rivalry, and to give high priority to hush-hush programs which the president merely hinted at.

Eisenhower, in announcing selection of Killian, left it far from clear whether the new man will be what amounts to czar in the missile field. The president's language seemed to indicate Killian won't have that much authority.

Eisenhower said the U.S. national security posture at present is one of great strength.

"Our nation has today, and has had for some years, enough atory forces to bring near annihilation to the war-making capabilities of any country."

The goal, he went on, is "to make it possible for me, personally, wherever there appears to be any unnecessary delay in our development system, to act promptly and decisively."

Eisenhower also announced these other actions:

1. He has directed Defence Secretary McElroy to make certain that Holaday, the defence department's missile director, "is clothed with all the authority" that McElroy himself has in that field so that no administrative or inter-service block can occur. And Killian will work closely with Holaday.

2. He and McElroy have

THE SCOREBOARD

BY

Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—The jump from college to the professional ranks is toughest in basketball.

There are several reasons for this, starting with the scarcity of jobs. There are only 80 of them, as against 400 in major league baseball and 420 in pro football.

The turnover has been much less since the National Basketball Association became a solid organization. The combatant no longer considers the pro game as little more than a stopover between college days and a business career. The pay is good, so the athlete plays longer. There are more than one or two vacancies a year on any club.

The size element stymies a lot of ambitious lads in the pro league. A 6-5 forward in college becomes a backcourt man. A 6-7 centre becomes a corner man. There are exceptions of course, but generally speaking a pro has to stand 6-10 to play the pivot.

The difference in play? "It's like putting the office boy at an executive desk," says Charley Tyra, the Louisville All-American, making his bow with the New York Knickerbockers. Young Tyra, a crackjack under the boards in college, is being employed behind 6-11 Ray Felix, but at 6-8 may not be tall enough to play centre in the NBA.

So, out of 60 college stickouts who tried out this season, no more than 10 will make it.

Further illustrating how difficult is the hop, Lennie Rosenbluth is to be lugged around by the Philadelphia Warriors only because he has a contract that is uncancelable for a year.

But the 6-5 Rosenbluth, star shotmaker of unbeaten North Carolina squad which turned back the remarkable Wilt The Stilt Chamberlain and Kansas to win the NCAA championship, is a substitute at best with the Warriors, back in the picture now that the great Tom Gola is out of the army. As one critic observed, "Lennie is playing with the big boys now."

Minneapolis has Southern Methodist's 6-8 Jim Krebs, who even looks like Clyde Lovellette facially, and West Virginia's 6-4 merry screwball, Hoy Rod Hundley.

But the professional coaches call this one of the worst crops of recruits in years, and accentuating the situation is the fact that it comes on the heels of two fine turnouts.

Tommy Heinsohn, Bill Russell, Willie Naulls, Sihugo Green and Dave Piontak came up last year.

The peagreeners were even more formidable two years ago, when Tom Gola as a freshman led the Warriors to the championship. In this class were Maurice Stokes, Dick Ricketts and Jack Twyman.

Those who know about such things contend that the below average group of aspirants reflects faults in college coaching. The main rap against most of the candidates was defensive defects.

Anyway, it's a long hop, step and jump from college to professional basketball.

AAU Brass Considers Firm's Offer of Help

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Thursday began considering a proposal that a large business firm foot the bill for track and field activities across the country.

Fred Harding of Toronto, representing the central Ontario branch of the AAU, said the company is thinking of spending $60,000 to $70,000 from its advertising budget.

The firm was not named but delegates at the AAU annual meeting were told it is connected with dairy firms across the country and the executive who advanced the proposal is "an old track athlete himself."

Neil Farrell of Hamilton, president of the southwestern Ontario branch of the AAU, said the aid might be extended to other sports if it worked in track and field.

Harding said professional sports have big business behind them and amateur athletics must get the same aid not only to continue but to survive.

"The day is past when we can go out and ask for money without offering something in return," he said in a reference to the advertising tie-up that would result.

Since the firm is in business across Canada it insists on a national plan, and felt that through its offices across the country it could help in other ways besides direct financial aid.

Stamps Ready To Kick Hard

By The Canadian Press

Calgary Stampede will be chasing another "first" tonight when they meet Vancouver Canucks in Vancouver in a Western Hockey League encounter.

While Vancouver will be aiming to retain their nelson grip on top spot, the Stamps will try to be the first team to beat the no-loss Canucks this season.

Calgary's placing at the foot of the prairie division was unchanged by Edmonton Flyers' meeting in Winnipeg with the Warriors Thursday night. The prairie leaders dropped a 3-1 contest to the Flyers.

Calgary, still smarting from being the first team to lose to coast division's tail-end Victoria Cougars, have threatened Vancouver with "a real fast wind-up" for the game tonight.

ROLLINS SPEAKS UP

Elwin Ira (Al) Rollins, Calgary's goalie, said: "If we get mad, look out: We are something like the B.C. Lions football team—only in reverse—we start real slow and wind up real fast."

The Flyers moved within a point of the Warriors atop the prairie division as a result of their 3-1 win.

Before 4,523 fans, Len Lunde, Gord Hannigan and Chuck Holmes netted goals for the visitors. The Warriors' lone goal was scored by Pete Kapusta.

Only in the final minutes did the Warriors unhook them; selves from Edmonton's close checking.

Dennis Riggins in the Edmonton net brought off three masterly saves that brought cheers.

Off-buffed referee Vern Buffey today is nursing bruises. He was twice knocked backwards over the boards. Each time he was sent flying during a scramble.

In the last period Howie Glover, George Ford and Gerry Melnyk received minors for jamming sessions.

New Westminster Royals meet the Americans in Seattle in the only other game scheduled tonight.

SURPRISE IN STORE?

Surrey Boys 'Up' And in Top Shape

(Special to The Times)

VANCOUVER—The Oak Bay Drakes, B.C.'s defending intermediate football champions, will be in for a surprise when they meet Surrey Rams in Victoria's Macdonald Park Saturday.

Rams enter the B.C. final in fine fettle and are itching to upset the Drakes.

And if the Drakes are going on what they saw the first, and only, time they saw Rams in action, they'll be in for a big shock. Surrey players are in better shape than at any time previously this season and have caught fire for the game.

Bud Swain's charges run out of the double-fullback formation but their strong point is defence.

Heading the Rams is quarterback Dan Birch. The six-foot, two-inch, 185-pound ex-all-star end with the U.S. Navy service team is the team leader. He can run, pass (but only adequately) and is a good ball handler.

Two of the players the B.C. Lions have their eyes on are fullbacks Dennis Thune and Hardy Sullivan.

Thune, a chunky five-foot-eleven 190-pounder, is a hard runner and a tough man to bring down. Thune is enjoying one of his best offensive years and has no intentions of stopping just for the Drakes. Thune is able to hit full speed in a few strides and is hard to stop.

LINE TOUGH

But all the Rams' strength is not in the backfield. Three of their linemen will cause Drakes some headaches and maybe some heartaches.

Tackle Eric Robin anchors the Ram line. The 235-pounder is as strong as a bull and twice as nasty. But he moves like a 200-pound fullback.

His partner-in-crime is Al Wolcott, a 200-pound guard. Wolcott attended the Lions' Canadian training camp last spring and was sent to the Rams for seasoning.

From the looks of things, he's seasoned! The Drake quarterback's worst enemy will be end Hap Gault. The six-foot 190-pounder ex-Junior Bomber stalwart lets it be known he dislikes quarterbacks.

All in all it will be a more interesting game than the Drakes might figure on.

Star-Studded Pils Spice Boot Fare

There's no question as to what will be the main attraction in local soccer circles this weekend with Vancouver Pilseners coming to town Monday for a benefit game at Royal Athletic Park against the Victoria All-Stars.

But there are also a number of interesting matches slated in the Victoria and District Football League and in the second round of the Jackson Cup competition.

First-place Tillamums will be going against third-ranked Esquimalt Saturday in a Jackson Cup match at Athletic Park, and it could be one of the better games of the draw with each side hungry for a win.

In Sunday action, Heaney will take a shot at second-place Punjab United from their eighth-place standing at Central Park.

Biggest Turf Bid In Aussie History

MELBOURNE (AP)—A syndicate of six Melbourne men Thursday night offered 100,000 Australian pounds ($224,000) for the champion three-year-old Tulloch, highest bid for a horse in the history of the Australian turf.

Tulloch, winner of the Australian Jockey Club derby and the Victorian derby in Melbourne, has collected more than $100,000 in purses.

Richard Boys (Naturally!) Pace Canyons

By The Canadian Press

The once-proud Detroit Red Wings have hit rock bottom in the National Hockey League.

In the NHL that can only mean last place and the Wings found it Thursday night as Montreal Canadiens humiliated them 6-0 before 14,268 Montreal fans and Toronto Maple Leafs took a 5-3 decision from Boston Bruins to pick up the two points which separated Detroit from the bottom.

Wings, who virtually monopolized first place during this decade, looked pitifully inept both defensively and offensively against Canadiens, allowing 53 shots to goalie Terry Sawchuk and managing only 20 at Montreal's Jacques Plante. Sawchuk has been fired on 178 times in his last four games, 102 by Montreal in two encounters.

The power-laden Canadiens, who hold down the top four scoring positions, got two goals each from Henri Richard and Don Marshall and singles from Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Claude Provost. The win moved them back into a first-place tie with New York Rangers, who have played two more games.

HARRIS LEADS LEAFS

In Boston, Billy Harris picked up his sixth and seventh goals of the season and George Armstrong, Brian Cullen and Tom Sloan each contributed one. High-flying rookie Bronco Horvath scored twice for Boston to raise his season total to eight. Don McKenney once.

Detroit's stumbling defence could be partially laid to the absence of clever Red Kelly, but their disorganized attack, once one of the most potent in the league, must have more subtle failings.

Whatever they are, they helped Plante to his first shut-out of the year in his first game since a bout with sinus trouble. Saturday Boston is at Montreal, Detroit at Toronto and Chicago is host to New York Sunday, Toronto is at Chicago and Detroit at Boston.

Watson Fines Lazy Bisons

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Coach Harry Watson Thursday fined every member of Buffalo Bisons $50 for not hustling and called the American Hockey club to an extra practice session.

"Some of these players think they have been working too hard," said Watson. "They can work a lot harder, and they will."

Bisons, tied for fourth, were beaten 8-1 Wednesday night by Providence Reds. Bruce Gamble, 19-year-old rookie goalie just up from Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Junior Hockey League, shut them out until the final minute.

Egan Plans No Changes For Amerks

Pat Egan doesn't believe in changing a winning combination.

Accordingly, the new playing coach of Victoria Cougars will stick with the same lineup that gave the Cougars their first win of the Western Hockey League season when he sends them out against Seattle Americans at Memorial Arena Saturday night.

Cougars ended a nine-game losing streak at Memorial Arena Wednesday by drubbing Calgary Stampede, 4-1, and Egan has spent the last two days getting acquainted with his new charges.

"We'll keep the same lines together for a couple of games," he said today. "After all, the boys looked pretty good Wednesday."

"We had a good practice yesterday. The main thing is getting lots of hustle into the team and getting the lines working together on their plays."

Egan's decision to go with the same lineup means that centre Gordie Wilson and defenceman Gordon Matheson will sit out Saturday's game. Wilson has been bothered by an old knee injury and Matheson is troubled by a slight back injury.

One of the rugged veteran's biggest problems Saturday will be devising a way to stop slick Guyle Fielder, who set an all-time hockey scoring record with the Amerks last season.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

Don't be surprised if members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association decide to toss their annual ladder derby overboard when they sit down for their annual meeting in January.

Other big salmon derbies staged by the association are solely for charity and the ladder derby has been the main project for raising funds needed to keep Vancouver Island's biggest angling fraternity in operation.

Money, of course, is not the only reason for staging the ladder derby. It has also been intended to serve as a method of stimulating interest in the angling club and Saanich Inlet fishing.

To the anglers, the derby serves a useful purpose. And as long as they were able to at least break even on the event, they didn't mind the long hours of work stretching over three months.

But even fishermen get discouraged. The anglers haven't been able to land an extra greenback with their ladder derby in the past two years and it seems reasonable that they are going to try a new lure.

They can't afford to keep on losing money. And they don't want to give up the ladder derby idea completely. The solution could be a revised type of competition with smaller prizes and a smaller entry fee.

Decline in the derby's popularity is possibly linked with the increase in the number of trailer-borne boats that offer owners greater variety in fishing fare and greater competition from a host of one-day derbies.

The derby's record suggests that fishermen may have had their fill of competitive angling and are swinging back to fishing more for fun and less for prizes.

Good weather and good fishing have kept salmon anglers active later than usual this season and if you're looking for one more good catch of coho, Cowichan Bay still appears to be your best bet.

The new run of big silvers have moved into the bay and fishing should be worthwhile at least over this weekend.

Believed to be heading toward the Koksilah River, the latest run is made up of bright, husky fish, most of them hitting the scales above 10 pounds and several considerably larger, like the 17½-pounder taken by Phil Whitaker.

Among the better catches taken this week were those boated by Neil Dugan and Billy Boyles, and Don Miller and Jack Shortreed.

June and Dick James ran into some brisk action Tuesday afternoon, netting four coho between 10 and 14 pounds and losing six in two hours of fishing. They were using blue and white bucktails tied by Bill Hoskyn.

Also continuing to provide excellent salmon fishing is the area from Becher Bay to Pedder Bay, where a fair number of coho are still coming in and winter springs, averaging around 10 pounds, are showing in larger numbers.

Winter springs are also showing up in Saanich Inlet and some good catches have been taken in the past few days between Tod Inlet and Willis Point, where late afternoon fishing has produced the best results.

Springers are also being taken at the Goldstream end and grise are plentiful in all parts of the Inlet. Ray Herbert collected an 11-pounder at the Goldstream end Wednesday and A. Eaton reeled in 12 and 9½-pounders earlier in the week.

Trout fishing has been fairly good in some of the larger streams with some of the best catches being taken in the upper reaches of the Cowichan River.

Our recent weather certainly hasn't suggested good duck shooting, but a surprising number of webfeet have been downed during the past week. A seige of rain and a stormy day could produce some exceptional shooting in the fields.

Deer hunters, too, will be hoping for a spell of rough weather over the weekend. This should be just about the most productive week of our deer season, but it will still be tough hunting unless the rain arrives.

YVON SCORES KO VICTORY

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Yvon Durelle, British Empire light-heavyweight champion won a second-round knockout over Floyd McCoy of Staten Island, N.Y., Thursday night with a short smashing uppercut to the jaw.

The hard-hitting champion from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., knocked his opponent out of the fight with a thumping blow that nailed McCoy as he ducked a swing from Durelle. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Richardson Defending Cycle Trophy

More than 30 Vancouver Island motorcycle racing enthusiasts will be competing Remembrance Day in the annual Vancouver Island Tourist Trophy championship race at Pedder Bay, on the Rocky Point Road.

Competitions will start at 1 p.m. with four events scheduled to travel the half-mile course of twists, turns, hills and gullies that will face the riders.

Back to defend the trophy he won last year will be Tom Richardson, facing a field which includes Ernie Hills, Bill Smith, Wes Morhart, Vern Amor, Don Richardson, Alan Barclay, Dave Moore, Reg Shanks, Joe Brown and Lex Blow.

Club officials announce that there are good parking facilities and fans will be able to view the races from their cars.

Spokane dropped their second game in a row Thursday night after an overtime duel with Trail, but retained their shared hold on the lead of the Western International Hockey League.

Although failing before Trail, 6-5, and by an identical score the night before against Nelson, the Spokane Flyers have played two more games than any WHL opponents to maintain their place.

Trail's win put them two points behind the leaders.

Thursday's meeting saw centre Garth Hayes notch his second goal of the game with the overtime win at 1:02 of the extra period. A penalty to defenceman Jack Lancien at 0:26 paved the way for the winner.

Adolf Tambellini, the WHL's leading scorer, added one goal during the game together with finishing efforts from John Rypley, Jerry Penner and Gordon Steliga.

Visitors tallied through a brace from Lloyd Maxfield and singles from Tic Beattie, John Zahara and Dave Gordichuk.

VIKINGS SET TO START NEW YEAR WITH OLD AIM

Victoria College Vikings start their hunt for a Canadian junior basketball crown Saturday evening when they help Morrison's open the Senior B Men's Basketball League at Central Junior High School at 8:30.

Vikings will play only exhibition games in the senior B loop and play off with Royal Roads Juniors and Chinese Students to start their march for the crown they missed in Toronto last season.

Preliminary to the Vikings-Morrison's game will be a senior B women's event between Victoria College and Victoria Polyettes at 7:30 p.m.

Oak Bay Wins Inter-High Gala

The 20th annual Inter-High Swimming Gala held Thursday afternoon at the Crystal Garden turned into an all-Oak Bay affair as their swimmers sped to nine firsts in the 16 events for their seventh straight Sir Edward Beatty Trophy win.

With Bob Wheaton setting the pace as he backstroked his way to a Canadian record, covering the 50 yards in 27.2 seconds, Oak Bay had little trouble. They piled up 56 points to lead Victoria High with 29, Victoria College with 23 and Mount Douglas with seven.

Wheaton had set an unofficial Canadian mark in his own school's gala last month at 27.6, but no move was made to have it recognized.

Officials stated that his recent time would be submitted to Canadian swimming officials and would undoubtedly receive recognition.

TWO-YEAR TERM

Bud Gets His Reward

WINNIPEG (CP) — Harry (Bud) Grant, freshman coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has been signed to a new two-year contract to handle the Western Interprovincial Football Union club through 1958 and 1959.

Under the club's policy, terms of the contract were not released, but Bomber president J. T. Russell said today the salary was an increase over Grant's 1957 one-year contract.

Grant, star end with Bombers from 1953 to 1956 and formerly with Philadelphia Eagles, of the National Football League, and University of Minnesota, took over the coaching job here early this year from Al Sherman, released after guiding the team for three seasons.

Bombers finished second this year under Grant and meet Calgary Stampeders in the WIFU semifinal.

The Bomber coach said he was "very satisfied and happy about his new contract."

Russell said, never before has he seen a coach so unanimously endorsed by a club executive.

"We're really happy with Bud," he said. "Chances of going all the way have never been better in the history of the club."

As for assistant-coaches,

Russell said they were up to Grant.

Grant said, "We certainly want Wayne (Wayne Robinson, 1957 line coach) back, and I'll have a backfield coach if I can get the right guy."

He said he had nobody in particular in mind at present.

Rebuilding Necessary So Filchok Scrapped

REGINA (CP)—The last place Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union today announced that coach Frank Filchok, who has coached the team since 1953, has been fired.

The club's statement said: "As a result of the unsuccessful showing of the club in the WIFU in 1957, we feel that certain changes will be necessary at this time in order to prepare for an extensive rebuilding program. While the club considers that coach Frank Filchok has done a good job in the past, it now is felt, with reluctance, that his contract should not be renewed."

Word of Filchok's dismissal leaked out in Winnipeg Thursday night but officials of the Roughriders said they had no comment on the report. Filchok said if the club had no comment, he had none.

MR. DOUGLAS HOPES

Statistics of Little Value in Playoffs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Calgary Stampeders will have to stop the running attack of Winnipeg Blue Bombers if they hope to win their two-game, total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semifinal.

With four lopsided league victories over Stamps this year, Bombers will go into the opening game here Saturday night at 8 P.M. as favorites.

Small, But One of Best, Worters Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Roy Worters, 57, the first National Hockey League goalie to win both the Vezina and Hart trophies, died at his home here Thursday after a lengthy illness.

Worters, one of the smallest goalies in big league hockey, at five feet, three inches, won the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player while with Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets in 1929. He won the Vezina trophy as the goalie with the least goals against while with New York Americans in 1931.

Born in Toronto, he first achieved prominence with Toronto Canoe Club which won the Memorial Cup and the Canadian junior hockey championship in 1920. A teammate then was the late Lionel Conacher, voted Canada's outstanding athlete of the half century in a Canadian Press poll in 1950.

PRO IN 1925 Worters joined Pittsburgh of the American Amateur Hockey League in 1923 and stayed with them when they moved into the NHL as the Pirates in 1925. He joined the Americans in 1929 and retired in 1937.

He was twice named to the league's second all-star team, in 1932 and 1934.

Since his retirement he had been a hotel operator here.

Funeral service will be held Saturday. Burial will be in Pinehill Cemetery.

BOUNCED as coach of Saskatchewan Roughriders today was Frank Filchok, who missed playoffs for first time since he joined Canadian football coaching circles.

His references include four consecutive years in the playoffs with Saskatchewan and the WIFU championship for Edmonton Eskimos in 1952, his first season as a head coach.

Wife's Company More Important Than Own Party

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bullet Bob Turley, the New York Yankee pitcher, walked out on his own party Wednesday night because his wife couldn't attend the affair.

The fireball hurler was to receive the Baltimore Sports Boosters' Sports Headliner Award, given yearly to the "outstanding athlete, native or permanent resident, who has brought credit to the city of Baltimore." Turley lives at nearby Lutherville.

Turley arrived with his wife. At the door he was told the affair was strictly stag. After discussion with banquet officials, Turley and his wife left.

The plaque was accepted for him at presentation time by Charles P. McCormick, a Baltimore importer.

Seven Eskimos With All-Stars

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fullback Johnny Bright of Edmonton Eskimos, who set a league rushing record, and teammate Frankie Anderson, a hard-charging defensive end, were the only unanimous choices in the balloting for the 1957 Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star team picked for The Canadian Press.

Bright, who charged through opposing lines for more than 1,600 yards, and Anderson, a big factor in Esk's tight defensive wall, were named on all 34 ballots by football writers, sportscasters and coaches in league cities.

Esk's placed three men on the offensive team and four on the defensive squad, as well as having their coach, Frank Pop Ivy, named as all-star coach for the third successive year. Bombers had three players on each team.

Named to the backfield along with Bright, were team-mate Jackie Parker, Gerry James of Bombers and By Bailey of British Columbia Lions. Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen, who led Iowa to the Rose Bowl last January, easily nailed down the quarterback slot.

There was an abundance of good backs in the league this season, with the selectors passing up such players as Normie Kwong and Ken Hall of Edmonton, Leo Lewis of Winnipeg, Ken Carpenter and Bobby Marlow of Saskatchewan Roughriders to name a few. Injuries cut the chances of Carpenter and Bombers' Bob McNamara, who, along with Kwong, made the 1956 all-stars.

HANDIEST, HEFTIEST TRUCKS ON ANY ROAD...

GMC EXTRA-VALUE MONEY-MAKERS FOR '58

They're here... and how! A brand-new crop of GMC Extra-Value Money-Makers with a raft of rugged improvements that make them really big news in trucking. Some models offer a new 9000-pound front axle for even bigger loading performance... there's a bigger-than-ever range of GVW's—up to 36,000 pounds...

there are new engines, new styling, new handling ease.

In fact, there's a whole host of new reasons why you should make GMC pave your way to bigger profits. Your nearby GMC dealer has all the answers to your trucking problems. See him—soon!

Smart new functional styling

Dual headlights, new trim and new grille are just the beginning of GMC's smart, practical new styling. The windshield is bigger and wider—gives you an all-round better view of the road ahead. Wide, wide fenders help the driver in turning and parking. And even in the smaller details, GMC styling surpasses them all.

Brand new Utility Panels

The most exciting newcomers to the GMC lineup in many a long day. GMC's new Utility Panels are exactly what truckers have been asking for... Forward Control models with steel van-type bodies in 8 and 10 foot lengths. Gross ratings go up to 10,000 pounds. And smaller wheels and tires give low loading and step heights.

GVW's up to 36,000 pounds

Gross vehicle weights go to new highs to give GMC a commanding lead in the heavy-duty field. Up to 36,000 pounds GVW is now available in W-91000 Series... ruggedly-built trucks that can really take a pounding from both the load and the road. Check body styles and features at your GMC dealer's.

New Workmaster "348" V8

This new V8 will spark a revolution in truck engines... a power plant that develops 230 horsepower and has a governed engine speed of only 3700 rpm. The engine works easily, without straining, gives you plenty of power with less wear and tear. New cylinder head and piston designs also help to increase engine efficiency.

Improved Powermatic

Powermatic was last year's big news in transmissions... an automatic unit that brought new ease and convenience to truck handling. And, in addition, Powermatic's exclusive Hydraulic Retarder made it safer on hills than any other. Now, Powermatic goes itself one better with the addition of an extra range for city conditions.

Full Air Brakes

Extra-large brake shoes mean better, safer, surer stops, especially when they're powered by GMC's new full-time compressed air chambers. Even biggest loads are handled easily and safely under emergency conditions. GMC's full Air Brakes are optional at slight extra cost on all Heavy Duty models.

MONTÉ ROBERTS

I have just finished a careful study of the dog and the cat who live at our house, namely, Judy Boots Streak and Little Miss Muffet.

And I have come to the conclusion that, if there is such a thing as reincarnation, I would choose to come back as a cat.

This may surprise those of you who know my fondness for dogs.

But I would not wish to be a dog, because some dogs are expected to do things, such as hunt or retrieve or fetch slippers or pull a sleigh.

It would be just my luck to be reincarnated as a maul-mute hitched to a sleigh in the frozen north.

Other dogs are expected to do tricks, and some of them do so in such fashion that their masters are supported in a life of ease.

Cats, on the other hand, are never expected to do anything.

Can you imagine a cat expected to pull a sleigh? Or perform a trick?

Ask a cat to perform a trick, and she will walk away, washing her whiskers in utter disdain.

Naturally, if I were reincarnated as a cat, I would wish to be a cat in the kind of home the Cats' Protection League would wish for all cats.

I would be willing to take a chance on finding a good home, rather than taking a chance on having to work like a dog.

In our house, Judy Boots Streak doesn't have to do any actual work (outside of writing the occasional column, which comes easily to her), but she is expected to be obedient.

And did you ever hear of a cat being expected to be obedient?

With Little Miss Muffet, we plead for co-operation, and sometimes get it. But that's where the matter ends.

For the rest of it, Little Miss Muffet organizes her life as she chooses, deciding when to eat, when to sleep, when to play.

As I look at her right now, she has just decided it is time to sleep.

And—one second, two seconds, three seconds—she is asleep.

That accomplishment alone is enough to convince me to be a cat, if I have a choice come reincarnation time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Gifts and money donations to the Canadian Mental Health Association, Victoria branch, for Christmas gift distribution to mental patients can be left at Hawkes Real Estate, 8174 Fort, not 612 View as previously reported.

A triangular playground area reserved during the subdivision of Pemberton Woods is to be removed from the parks reserve and placed on the market by city lands committee. Parks administrator W. H. Warren told parks and finance committees of city council, the park, known as Armine Park, is located too close to the larger Pemberton Park to merit development.

Several district contractors will bid next week for an estimated $525,000 addition to Oak Bay High School. Included in the addition will be 10 teaching areas and a gymnasium-auditorium with dressing rooms. The school is overcrowded at present with students taking classes in basement quarters, the gym and lunchroom. Original section of the school was built in 1931.

Annual meeting of the Red Chevron Association, comprised of Canadian Expeditionary Force veterans, will be held Monday, Remembrance Day, at 7:30 p.m., 1001 Wharf Street. The association now has 120 active members and about 250 associate members. President is Lieut. Col. J. N. Edgar.

Government Graving Dock employee Fred Wicks, 40, of 4256 Dieppe Road, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital early today with a fractured arm and skull lacerations, sustained when he was hit with a moving crane in the pump-house. He was taken to hospital at 8:55 by Esquimalt police.

Air Fares to Vancouver Up; Reduction in Tourist Rates

Tourist fares will be reduced and first-class fares will go up slightly in a new tariff schedule announced today by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The new rates go into effect Jan. 1. Fares from Victoria to mainland points, all first class, will be increased with the discounts on return tickets being eliminated.

Victoria to Vancouver flights will cost $5 one way, up 40 cents from present rates. The round trip fare will increase from $8.30 to $10.

Victoria-Seattle runs will increase from $5 to $6 one way and from $9.50 to $12 for the round trip.

Tourist fare reductions will drop coast-to-coast round trips $50 in price. The Victoria-Halifax rate will be $316 compared with the present $366. First class rates for the round trip will rise from $401.10 to $410.

Other sample round-trip fares from Victoria are: Toronto-tourist, Jan. 1 $230, present $264.30; first class, Jan. 1 $295, present $288.55; Winnipeg-tourist, Jan. 1 $132.80, present $152.30; first class, Jan. 1 $175, present $170.20.

Donations to the Community Chest totalled $172,365 at noon today. Persons missed by the campaign may phone chest headquarters at 2-5121 and a canvasser will call for donations. Chest objective is $251,717.

J. N. Fraine, newly-appointed vice-president, Pacific Region, Canadian Pacific Railway, is in Victoria today on a brief visit from his Vancouver office. He will make a brief inspection of the E and N Railway before returning to the mainland.

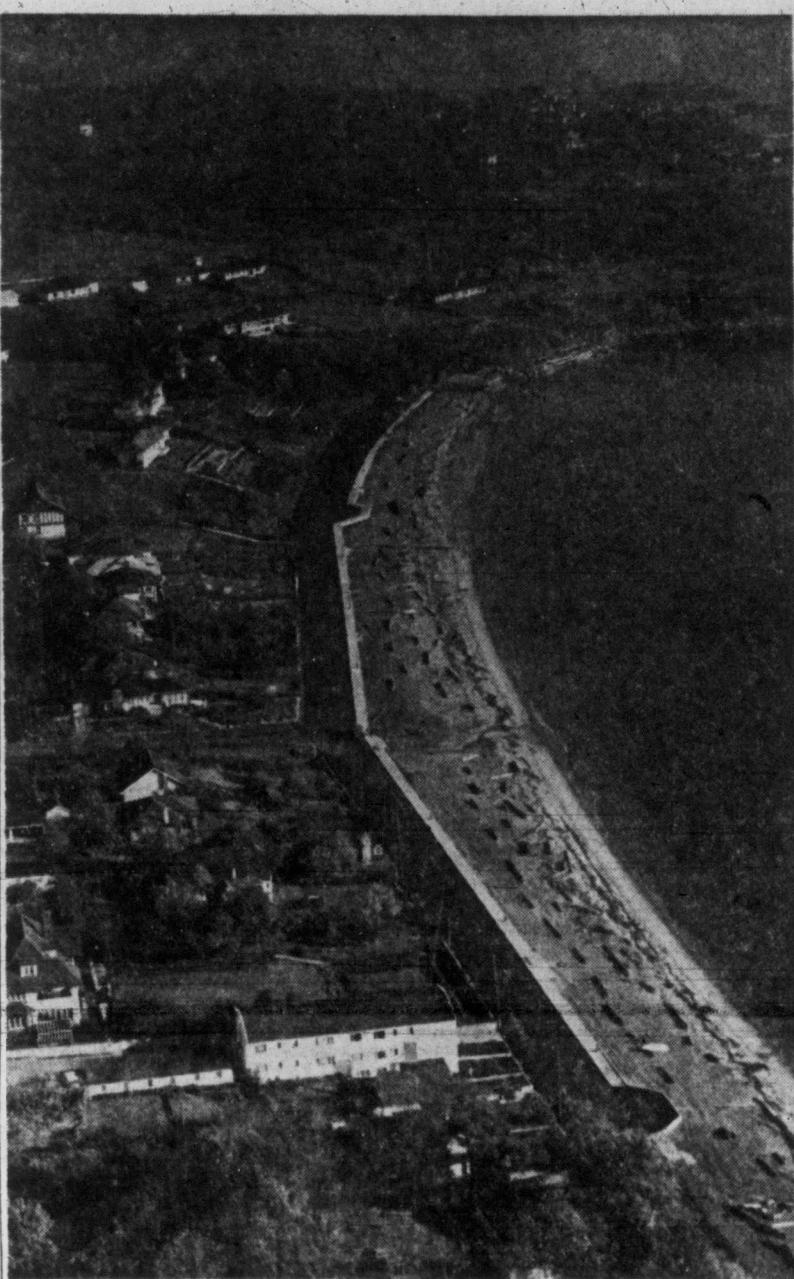

Charge against Jacob Daniel Reiswig, Sidney, of failing to file income tax returns for 1956 was dismissed in Sidney RCMP court today.

Frank E. Birtwhistle, 665 Baxter, was fined $10 in Sidney police court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to depositing live ashes on his basement floor, resulting in a small fire.

Edward N. Case, Philadelphia, Penn., sales manager for Ajax Electric Co., will address the Vancouver Island chapter of the American Society for Metals next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Pacific Club.

Fine of $25 and $250 costs were imposed against Edward D. Lewis, 901 Lodge, in city police court today for failure to file income tax returns for 1956. Director of the firm, Edward D. Lewis, Campbell River, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Old-Age Pensioners branch five realized $270 from a bazaar Wednesday, convened by Mrs. W. S. Kendall. Tea was served by Women of the Moose.

PGE Refunding Awaits Better Market Picture

Poor market conditions have led to a government decision to hold off a $30,000,000 Pacific Great Eastern Railway bond issue.

"We're picking our time when to go to the market and it isn't now," a government spokesman said today.

He denied however that the issue was being "postponed," since no definite date has been picked.

Decision not to go ahead at this time was made after discussions this week in New York between J. V. Fisher, B.C. economic adviser, and officials of Morgan Stanley and Company, the government's chief dealer in the U.S.

The $30,000,000 bond issue is for refunding purposes and the delay will not cause any cut-backs in PGE spending, government officials say.

Hubcaps, Radio, Wood Stolen in Rash of Thefts

A rash of thefts ranging from hubcaps to three cords of wood was reported to city police Thursday.

Four hubcaps were stolen from a car owned by G. V. Sanderson, 2630 Heron, while it was parked at the rear of the Strathcona Hotel between 7 and 9 p.m., and two hubcaps from W. F. Hibbert's car parked in front of his home at 1419 Harrison.

Lika Singh, 116 Gorge, reported three cords of 4' slab-wood stolen from his woodyard on Topaz Avenue.

A custom car radio was stolen from his car while it was parked on Garbally Street, C. A. Peck, 1143 Pandora, told police.

And there was one "find." James G. Johnston, Harbor View Road, turned in a red leather wallet containing $50.12 which he found on Blanshard Street, near St. Andrew's Cathedral at about 4:45 p.m.

STORE OWNERS PLEAD GUILTY ON FIREWORKS SALE CHARGES

Three Chinese store proprietors pleaded guilty in city police court today to selling Halloween fireworks after hours.

Fined $15 each were Joe Wo, 545 Fisgard; Albert Yuen, 1411 Government, and Chew Chow, 799 Fort. Mr. Chow was fined an additional $15 for selling fireworks to a minor.

Jackie Chow, 1400 Hillside, pleaded not guilty to selling fireworks to a minor, and was remanded to next Friday for trial when a charge of selling fireworks after hours also will be read.

Dock 'Facelift' Costs $600,000

A $600,000 modernization program is under way at the Government Graving Dock in Esquimalt.

Complete rewiring and rehabilitation of the giant drydock's entire electrical system is scheduled to take the better part of a year.

Work began this week on a 150-foot tunnel connecting the pump house to the existing service tunnel ringing the drydock to make connection with docked ships' electrical systems more efficient. A standby diesel generator for operation in event of power failures also is under construction.

The drydock's electrical system, installed in 1926, will be changed over from direct current to alternating current to accommodate systems in naval ships and newer merchantmen.

Most of the expenditure will be on materials but about a dozen jobs will be created by the project. Work will proceed in broken intervals to prevent closing of the dock during the project.

Three new sub-stations housing electrical equipment also will be built.

Contractor for the project is Ricketts-Sewell Electric Ltd., of Vancouver. Sub-contractor for

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS MAIL CLOSING DATES ANNOUNCED

Deadline for Christmas mail postings from here to Great Britain is Nov. 30, and to the European continent, Nov. 26, the Post Office announced today.

This applies to other than air mail. Airborne mail deadline from here to Great Britain is Dec. 13, and to the Continent, Dec. 11.

Parcel post must be mailed several days earlier in all instances.

The deadlines apply also for mailing to military personnel in England and the Continent.

As usual, the Post Office urges persons to "mail early."

Standard Grade Only Affected

Motorists are almost certain to gain through a reduction in the wholesale price of standard grade gasoline, announced today by Imperial Oil Ltd.

The price cut amounts to one-half cent per gallon on the standard gas for automobiles and tractor and marine fuels. There will be no reduction in the price for premium grade gasoline or other company products.

"We set only the wholesale price, and dealers set their own retail prices," a company spokesman said here.

A dealer, in turn, said the reduction would be passed on to the consumer.

"I don't know what the other stations will be doing, but I'm pretty certain the price will be dropped by tonight or first thing Saturday," he said.

COMPETITIVE

The standard grade gasoline accounts for about 40 per cent of the total gasoline sales for automobiles.

The reduction is one cent per gallon on the products concerned in the Maritimes, Quebec and part of Ontario, and one-half cent in the rest of Canada.

According to a company announcement the reduction was made as a competitive move.

A check with other oil companies regarding the Imperial move and a possible matching price change drew the same answer from all: "We have had no instructions."

An experienced member of the service station trade suggested all would observe the price cut shortly.

"All companies seem to follow a price line," he said. "I think they will all follow suit on this price cut."

HIGHER IN SKY

Many Here See Pupnik Pass

The dog-bearing Sputnik II passed over Victoria on schedule at 5:50 this morning and was seen by several scientists at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain.

All agreed that the Sputnik is accelerating its speed across the heavens and may be on the last stage of its travels around the world.

Dr. J. A. Pearce of the observatory staff had the longest view. He watched the Sputnik for two minutes and 50 seconds from the time it first appeared in the south southwest until it disappeared in the northeast.

He was standing at the foot of Mount Douglas on Blenkinsop Road.

"It was higher in the sky than yesterday (5:40 a.m. Thursday) and there were considerable variations in its brightness—bright, faint, bright, faint, as it moved across the sky."

"This could be because the third stage of the rocket—the one containing the dog—is revolving and is bright or faint according to the way it is pointing to the sun."

SPEEDIER

Dr. Pearce said the apparent faster speed of the Sputnik could be due to its higher altitude. Its altitude varies from 150 to 900 miles above the earth and it is usually at a lower point when crossing the Pacific Northwest.

Plotting the course of the satellite, Dr. Pearce noted that it was first seen close to the star Procyon, then travelled through the constellation of Leo and close to three stars of the Great Bear—Gamma, Delta and Epsilon.

"It appeared to have a maximum altitude of about 40 degrees," he said. (Thursday's maximum altitude was given as 30 degrees.)

The Sputnik is expected to make another appearance over Victoria early Saturday at about 6 a.m. It is approximately 10 minutes later every day.

"Observers should look for it in a south-southwesterly direction, as we did this morning, and they should naturally choose a spot where that part of the sky is unobscured," Dr. Pearce said.

The Sputnik was also seen this morning by Mrs. Pearce, Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the observatory, and Dan Francis, another member of the staff, who took two photographs from the observatory hill.

TWO EXPOSURES

Mr. Francis said he made two exposures—one of 20 seconds, the other of 15 seconds. They showed that the path of the satellite was higher than in the photo taken by observatory photographer Horace Draper from Malahat Summit early on Thursday.

This photo was published on the front page of The Times Thursday afternoon.

"I do not think my photos were as good as Draper's," Mr. Francis said, "but they do suggest the Sputnik is changing its altitude."

Dr. Petrie said there is reason to believe the Sputnik may be approaching the end of its journey and may not be seen much longer.

"While following the same general course, it is obviously moving westward and we may not see it for another week, as I forecast earlier."

U.S. Academy Soccer Team At Royal Roads

Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Saturday will field a soccer team here against a team from the U.S. Air Force Academy, Denver, Colo.

The game, open to the public, starts at 2 p.m.

The U.S. air cadets, 20 in number, were scheduled to arrive in Victoria today.

For the past two years, sports teams have visited between Royal Roads and the U.S. academy.

Saturday there will be a dance at the college in honor of the visiting team, and Sunday the U.S. cadets will join those at Royal Roads in a church parade.

Labor Warns Oil Strike May Spread

An oil workers' union leader, Thursday, said Victoria was the "nerve centre" of a move to "destroy our union" which could explode into a province-wide strike against the oil industry.

The charge was denied today by a spokesman for Imperial Oil Ltd.

Vern Barber, president of the 1,000-strong union, which covers all of B.C., said in an interview that Imperial Oil was using its marketing plant in Esquimalt, near Work Point, to supply Vancouver Island and the mainland coast with "hot" petroleum shipped in from the United States with the aid of non-union workers.

He said the move was being made in an effort to "destroy" the union, involved in a six-week-old strike at the Ioco refinery near Vancouver.

Mr. Barber said that union contracts with the other five oil companies in B.C. had expired in August and now were before conciliation.

"If Imperial Oil, as the market leader, doesn't sit down at the bargaining table to reach an honorable settlement soon, it is probable that strike action will spread across the province," he threatened.

An Imperial Oil spokesman said none of the company's marketing plants, including the one in Victoria, were involved in the strike.

He said Imperial has been bargaining "in good faith" throughout the Ioco strike and only last week a company proposal was turned down by the union.

"The company is not attempting to break the strike. It is attempting to settle it," he said. "We have a standing offer before the union which would provide conditions comparable, and in some respects better, to conditions prevalent in the industry across Canada."

Civil Servants Get Yule Leave

Federal civil servants and prevailing rate employees probably will get time off on the afternoons before Christmas and New Year's Day, the civil service commission said in Ottawa today.

The government has indicated it will approve provisions for the two half-holidays, the commission said.

Any time worked on the two afternoons likely will be regarded as time worked on a statutory holiday for purposes of overtime pay, the commission said.

Sea Cadets, Not Boy Scouts, In Door-to-Door Orange Sales

Victoria businessman Ernest Warner apologized publicly today to the Boy Scouts for a statement he made Thursday that the group had perpetrated "a terrible hold-up" in door-to-door sale of oranges.

He said he has since learned the orange sales were conducted by Rainbow Sea Cadets. "I'm very sorry. I was confused in the twilight by the uniform."

Mr. Warner made his statement before city council finance committee in protesting door-to-door sales by charitable organizations, which he believes adversely affect local merchants.

He said today, "My point is these requests for funds should be channeled through Community Chest."

The charge against the Scouts did not carry out the orange sale, he said, and policy at district level was absolutely against drives in competition with retailers.

One Scout group in Glenford area did undertake an orange selling campaign prior to Christmas last year. But this apparently was carried out without approval of the district council, and not connected with the campaign referred to by Mr. Warner.

Fresh Green Asparagus Tops My Weekend Menu

By PENNY SAVER

Another long weekend! The time trips by so quickly, it seems like only yesterday we were ordering our Thanksgiving fare! But here we are again racking our brains to think how we can satisfy the ravenous appetites all about us.

Listen! My book is chock full of ideas. Asparagus is in the city now, and what could be more appetizing than long asparagus stalks, cooked just right and served dripping with butter? All yours at a half a pound for 29 cents.

If you are a carrot fan, you'll be interested to know that the season is coming to a close soon, so enjoy them while they are still on the stands. The price has bounced down considerably too. Just three pounds for 25 cents.

Something to add to your late autumn table is a crisp green salad. Gives you the important vitamins and nourishment that you need during these chilly months. California lettuce comes at 25 cents a head—large ones too! Local heads of lettuce are still on the stands, but the life span of these is coming to an end. They are 15 cents a head.

Zoom! Down they go! I'm talking about those local potatoes. Guess what? They are only five pounds for 29 cents. Then, of course you can buy a sack for $3.95. Now, if that isn't economizing!

Creamed cauliflower. Well, yum, yum! For a Sunday dinner treat, prepare some cheese

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q.—"My waist measures 28½ inches. I am 13 years old. My bust measures 34 inches. The back of my hips are too large. Am I hopeless? I am 5'6" tall and weigh 125 pounds."

A.—You are far from being hopeless. Your weight is ideal and your waist will just naturally slim down as you grow older. You did not give me your hip measurement but you can take hip-slimming exercises if you wish. If you, or any of my readers, would like to have them, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope—with your request for Leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q.—"My hips have hollow places on them, or they sink in on the sides. What can I do for this and what causes it?"

A.—This condition is due to a sag in the muscles plus an accumulation of fat at these spots. Try the following exercises:

Stand tall. Contract the hip muscles. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Repeat 10 times.

Q.—"My problem is myself. Sometimes I think I am in love and then at other times I don't know. I am writing to a boy who has moved to another state. I went with him for six weeks before he left. When I think of him now at times I love him but at other times I don't like him. It was that way before he left. He is one of the nicest boys I have ever known."

A.—When you are in love you will know it. Right now you are in love with being in love.

Q.—"I have awful bow legs. I don't wear shorts or go swimming or do any of the things girls my age like to do. I feel I am missing out on half of my life because of my legs. What kind of a doctor should I see?"

A.—See an orthopedic physician, but do not allow the shape of your legs to ruin your happiness.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

A note of sympathy: Would you please help me word a note to friends who have just lost their son in an airplane accident. I am at a loss to express myself.

Louise Davis answers: I suggest that your note be as short and sincere as possible. Expressing your sympathy and thoughts with lengthy paragraphs are likely to send the parents into depths of emotion and grief. A few thoughtful words can tell a great deal, for somehow or other, unspoken sentiments from friends are strongly felt in tragic moments like these. Restraint is therefore advisable. If you have engraved calling cards or informal forms, you can write under your name, "My deepest sympathy." If you prefer to write the note instead, you might say something like this, "I want you to know that a friend is thinking of you with loving sympathy." Those parents need the strength of others, and you would help to give your strength with brevity.

Mrs. L. Smith Honored By Symphony Society

At a recent meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society board of directors, Mrs. Lillian Smith, who has done secretarial work for the society since 1950, was honored.

The president, Jack Barraclough, on behalf of the society and the women's committee presented Mrs. Smith with an engraved silver tray and a cheque in appreciation of faithful service given freely on a part time basis for the past seven years.

Mrs. Smith is also a member of the symphony orchestra, playing in the violin section. With the work of the society and the popularity of the orchestra growing rapidly, Mrs. Smith decided to resign as secretary and the board has now appointed a full-time secretary. She is Mrs. C. O'Regan, formerly of Regina.

Visitors — In Canada from England, is Mrs. A. W. Wakefield, who was honored at a recent meeting of the Lake Hill Women's Institute. Mrs. Wakefield spoke on the Institutes in the British Isles and of her travels in Canada. Other visitors welcomed were Mrs. E. G. Woodward, Mrs. J. H. Lauritzen and Mrs. G. L. Morris. The card party on Nov. 20, was discussed and it was decided to hold it in the Quadra Street hall at 2 p.m. Tea will be served and there will be stalls of home cooking and miscellaneous articles.

Bride to Face Hardy Outpost Life As a Missionary Among Eskimos

TORONTO (CP)—A new and exciting life is in store for pretty 25-year-old Joyce Smith of Yorkshire.

Joyce married her missionary fiancé, John Marlow, on Nov. 4 in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Churchill. The couple then flew to their home at Eskimo Point, 200 miles north of Churchill on Hudson Bay, where Joyce became the second white woman at the outpost.

The young English girl arrived in Canada a month ago and stayed for a time with the Rt. Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Marsh in Toronto.

Preparing herself for life in an outpost, Joyce made out her shopping list for a year, learned to bake bread and practised the Eskimo language.

Joyce has a good idea what to expect, Mrs. Marsh, wife of the Bishop of the Arctic, is an authority, as she spent the first 10 years of her married life at Eskimo Point.

The young bride has learned that the water she will use in winter has to be melted from blocks of ice, that there is no electricity and that cooking is done on a coal stove. Most exciting of all, she was told that provisions are ordered for a year.

"She will be facing many more problems than the average bride," Mrs. Marsh said.

Her duties will include teaching Sunday school, attending women's meetings and conducting Sunday services when her husband is on one of his many six-week trips administering to parishioners in even more remote areas.

The Eskimos, Mrs. Marsh explained, would never think of letting Sunday pass without a service even if they had to conduct it themselves.

Most brides would think twice before entering on such a life. But not Joyce, whose trousseau contains such items as deerskin socks, pants and parkas.

Which is the Brand New Suit...

And which has been Sanitone Dry Cleaned 50 Times?

Here's dramatic proof that repeated quality dry cleanings do not alter look and feel of newness!

No longer need you worry about how often to have your clothes dry cleaned. Do it whenever they are soiled or mussed because ingrained soil and perspiration are hard on clothes — NOT QUALITY DRY CLEANING! The makers of SANITONE ran exhaustive tests to prove this.

One of the identical brand-new suits pictured above, was Sanitone Dry Cleaned 50 (fifty) times and even experts could detect no significant difference between it and the one that was brand new... either in appearance, or in the feel of the fabric. This test has been duplicated with swatches cut from the same bolt of cloth as the suits shown here. We have them on display, so come in and see for yourself how safe Sanitone Dry Cleaning is for your family's clothes.

In fact, we believe you'll agree that all clothes will stay new-looking longer WITH regular Sanitone Dry Cleaning. Our regular patrons will back that up 100%, too. So why not start today?

Young People's Group Party At Sylvan Acres

More than 90 young people of the Baptist Church gathered recently in the dining hall of Sylvan Acres Baptist Camp near Swartz Bay, for a Halloween party. They came from as far north as Campbell River and left after an evening of fun and square dancing and after consuming more than 400 pancakes and gallons of coffee.

Miss Grace Barritt, secretary of Christian Education Board of Baptist Churches in British Columbia was a special guest and led the sing song and the devotional. Cooks were Mr. and Mrs. C. Alder, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cooper and Mrs. G. Hart.

"Ghosts," conducted a "House of Horrors."

Misses Mary Lou Lyle, Jessie Nicholson, Sue Anderson, George and Bob Cooper were in charge of arrangements with E. E. Livesey acting as caller for the dancing. Prize winners for games were Michael Pogue, Pat Duggan, Ray Sutherland and Marion Elliott. Mrs. G. R. Easter thanked the master of ceremonies at conclusion of the party.

Here's a lunch box tip your dentist will endorse. Tuck a fresh apple into your children's carry-to-school lunch. It makes the perfect dessert and it not only is wonderfully healthy, but also is beneficial to the teeth. Dentists have long recommended a fresh apple as a superb tooth cleanser. Nature gave the apple a special magic quality that removes food particles and leaves the mouth and breath fresh and free from the acids that are so damaging to tooth enamel.

Many African Babies Doomed

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — In next few months 300 of every 1,000 African babies under the age of two years will die in this area.

In crowded African settlements and scattered kraals villages, the sweltering summer months are known as the months of death.

The usual cause is gastroenteritis, resulting from the jam-packed living conditions in African areas, malnutrition, bad housing, lack of sanitation, maternal ignorance and flies.

At a hospital where free medical treatment is given, wards designed to accommodate 46 infants were overcrowded with as many as 130 infants last year. Many were back in hospital within a week of being discharged.

Said one interne: "It is like throwing handfuls of sand into a river to stop it flowing."

Medical authorities are battling to curb the flood of the disease by spraying to kill flies, running a clinic and lecturing on preventative diets.

Jewelry Styled Individually—French Craze

PARIS (Reuters) — Individually-designed 'costume' jewelry made to order is the latest French fashion craze.

A Viennese woman, Countess Zoltowska, working under the professional name of "Cis," creates opulent, make-believe jewelry in accordance with each client's taste and requirements.

Countess Zoltowska believes that accessories and jewelry should be as personal a choice as a dress, and must blend with the over-all mood of the ensemble to establish the perfect costume look.

As no smart Frenchwoman would dream of buying her hat ready-made, or purchasing an important piece of real jewelry "off the counter," why not, asks Countess Zoltowska, create the same personalized individualism in blatantly false costume effects.

GOOD FOR THE HAIR ON HIS BRAUNY CHEST

LONDON (CP) — The British male is steadily, if surreptitiously, increasing his contribution to the welfare of the cosmetics industry.

A survey by the magazine Family Doctor indicates that one man in five uses talcum powder and one in six buys hair and after-shave lotion.

"There's no doubt about it," the magazine says, "men have the same love of luxury as women and only fear of being thought effeminate stops them buying bath and toilet preparations."

MONTREAL (CP) — The secret of good modelling is to "pare down every pose to its simplest form," says Virginia Thoren of New York, a leading fashion photographer.

Visiting Montreal and Quebec City, Miss Thoren said that every model "goes through the posing stage early in her career."

But, she said, "if she's intelligent it doesn't last more than six months. After that, she realizes that being herself is more important than being a store-window mannequin."

Miss Thoren said the ideal fashion model is five feet, seven inches tall, slender, with an elongated line from shoulder to hips.

OTTAWA (CP) — Women, says Mrs. Arthur Lourie, are "a bit daft" when they get together for a big purpose.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Plans Complete To Honor Dead

In the solemn simplicity of Remembrance Day services Canada's war dead will be honored Monday.

In Victoria, army, navy and air force units will participate in a ceremony at the Cenotaph before the legislative buildings. The two-minute silence at 11 a.m. will be marked by the boom of saluting guns manned by 5 Independent Medium Battery.

Non-uniformed veterans wearing decorations and poppies will

Salute on Government Street

The service will be conducted by Rev. R. E. H. Howell, assistant priest at Christ Church Cathedral and a major in the Royal Canadian Army Chaplain Corps. Mrs. C. E. Duke will represent bereaved mothers and widows.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will take the salute from a dais in front of the Empress Hotel following the service. First Remembrance Day service at Saanich's memorial gong on Shelbourne Street will begin at 2 p.m. Monday. The park will be rededicated by Rev. T. D. B. Ragg. St. Luke's Anglican Church.

Representing the minister of national defence, Lt.-Col. J. C. Caye will unveil a memorial cairn, to be consecrated by Rev. Alex Read.

The flag will be blessed by Rev. A. L. Avery. St. Aidan's United Church. Main speakers will be Social Credit MLA John Tisdale of Saanich and Reeve Arthur Ash.

Greater Victoria servicemen will be represented by a unit of 40 army men from Esquimalt Garrison, personnel from ships of the Pacific Command's Canadian Escort Squadron and a 25-member unit from 2455 AC and W Squadron, RCAF.

Esquimalt's ceremony at Memorial Park will be preceded by a parade of 30 naval personnel from HMCS Ontario, naval veterans, a detachment of HMCS Malahat and Canadian Legion Esquimalt branch veterans. For the first time, the PO's association will be in the parade. The parade will begin at the Legion Hall, 622 Admirals, at 10:30 a.m.

WREATHS LAID

The 11 a.m. service will be conducted by Rev. William Hills, St. George the Martyr Church, and Rev. D. R. Pilkey, Esquimalt United Church.

Wreaths will be laid by Reeve A. C. Wurtele, on behalf of Esquimalt; Capt. J. G. Littler, CD, RCN, on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen, and Cmdr. S. J. Caldwell, RCN, representing the Esquimalt Legion as honorary president.

Mrs. S. J. Murray has been chosen to represent bereaved mothers and widows.

MARCH PAST

Capt. Littler will take the salute on a return march-past down Esquimalt Road.

Service in Oak Bay will be conducted at Uplands Park at 3 p.m. by Rev. Alexander Calder, Oak Bay United Church, and Rev. H. J. Jones, St. Mary's Anglican.

Reeve Fred Norris will lay a wreath on the Cenotaph.

Remembrance Day services also will be held in all ships and establishments of the Pacific Command.

PORT ALBERNI

Destroyer-escort HMCS Skeena will detach from current exercises to visit Port Alberni, where a number of the ship's company will join in services.

The Skeena will reach Port Alberni this evening, leaving late Monday or early Tuesday.

Sidney services will be augmented by personnel of VU-33, the RCN's aircraft squadron based at Patricia Bay airport.

Capt. D. W. Groos, commanding officer of HMCS Venture, junior officer training establishment at Esquimalt, will address an assembly at Sir Winston Churchill High School in Vancouver Friday at a memorial service.

Two Women Hospitalized In Street Crash

Early evening traffic accident in front of the Strathcona Hotel Thursday sent two elderly women to hospital with multiple injuries.

In satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital, is Mrs. A. E. Cotton, 74, 1054 MacGregor, with shock, head injuries, fractured leg and hip.

Mrs. Karen Woodley, 75, 123 Wellington, is in fair condition at St. Joseph's with a fractured leg and arm and head injuries. The women, police said, were in collision with a car driven by John Henson, 520 West Burnside.

No Canadian Wheat Australians Rule

CANBERRA (AP) — Australia has squashed a plan to import wheat from Canada to relieve a shortage caused by drought in New South Wales, the government announced today.

The minister of primary industries, William McMahon, explained that although it would be cheaper to ship wheat across the Pacific than to transfer it from western Australia, where there is a surplus, the Canadian wheat would be the heavy drain on Australian dollar reserves.

TWO MORE TRIALS STILL PENDING

Youths Plead Guilty on Three Charges of False Pretenses

Two teenagers remanded on nine forgery counts totalling $748.45 in city police court Thursday morning pleaded guilty to an additional three charges involving $252.50 in phony cheques in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon.

The boys, aged 15 and 16, were remanded to next Thursday for probation reports and sentence.

Meanwhile they are slated to face more charges in Oak Bay and Esquimalt court. They were transferred from juvenile courts.

In city court the charges laid were for forgery. Saanich police charged the pair with false pretences and intent to defraud.

The boys used the same methods apparently in both municipalities.

One, the 16-year-old, wrote the cheques making them payable to himself and the other presented them in grocery stores, obtaining part value in goods, the rest in cash.

Saanich cheques were for $66.50, $89.50 and $96.50.

It is understood the total amount in worthless cheques is in the neighborhood of $1,600, of which $900 was paid by the bank on which cheques were drawn, until the forgeries were noticed.

Crew Escape In Jet Crash

COLD LAKE, Alta. (CP)—An RCAF CF-100 jet fighter crashed and burned near this north-eastern Alberta air force station Wednesday night after its two-man crew had parachuted to safety.

The crew members, FO Bob Panin, 23, of Moon Lake, Sask., navigator, and pilot FO Lorne McLean, 23, of Claresholm, Alta., and Mission, B.C., were uninjured. They were picked up by station vehicles.

THE NEXT BIG STEP

Human-Carrying Satellite Now Seems Certain

By WILLY LEY
(Copyright 1957, The Chicago Sun-Times)
(Eighth of a Series)

The first artificial satellite of earth is in the sky now and even the most conservative estimate says it should last for at least one year.

This means that it will not spend its so-called lifetime alone in an orbit around the earth. The Russians have announced they will follow up with several more. The first American Vanguard satellite shot is indefinite but in 1958 six Vanguard shots are planned.

They all have the purpose of informing us about conditions in space near the fringes of our atmosphere. They will measure how much the sun's rays will heat them up, count cosmic rays and dust grains which strike them and gather similar information the scientists need. In between the satellite shots, there will be a number of vertical rocket shots to altitudes far beyond satellite orbits. It is even likely that there will be an unmanned shot to the moon, of informing us about conditions in all this supposed to lead?

Manned Space Ship Big Objective

The first big goal is to get a manned ship into such an orbit. Like the rockets which carry unmanned satellites the rocket that carries the manned ship will have to be a three-stage rocket. But it will have to be much larger because the manned ship will weigh over a ton. Its external shape will probably be that of a delta-winged fighter airplane. The general idea is that the pilot will take his ship up into an orbit, permit it to circle the earth without power for some time—say a day or two—and then break out of the orbit with the aid of his rocket motor. After a long glide through the upper atmosphere at speeds far greater than sound this ship can be and will be landed like an airplane.

This flight will be the preliminary to the construction of a manned satellite, called a space station. It is an interesting fact that the manned space station was conceived before anybody thought of an unmanned satellite. Prof. Hermann Oberth introduced it into scientific literature in 1923. Half a dozen years later an Austrian engineer wrote, under the assumed name of Hermann Noordung, a whole book on the space station. Much of what he said then is still accepted by scientists, though present-day engineers can improve on every one of his suggestions of how it should be constructed. During the same year (1929) another Austrian, Baron von Pirquet, published a painstaking study on the preferable orbits of such a space station.

Thorough Ground Testing Required

If it seems strange that scientists should have thought of a manned space station before the thought of unmanned satellites occurred to them, an explanation can be offered. An unmanned satellite would be very nearly useless if its instruments could not report their findings to the ground automatically by radio. This technique is called telemetering (literally: measuring from a distance) and when Oberth, Noordung and von Pirquet wrote their studies this technique was just being developed.

The manned space station will be ring-shaped and will first be built and most thoroughly tested on the ground. Then it will be taken apart, to be carried up piecemeal into an orbit by transport rockets. If the space station should make 20 rocket loads you don't have to have 20 transport rockets ready to go at the same time. Theoretically a single transport rocket could carry the space station into its orbit in 20 successive flights, the orbiting material will not run away but neatly stay in the orbit into which it has been put.

When all, or at any event most of the material has been carried to the orbit the same people who put it together and then took it apart on the ground will put it together once more, this time while it is circling the earth in its orbit. Then, after it has been made livable by filling it up with air

How long it will take to get from the first artificial satellite to the first manned space station is something that will depend on the effort put into it. If we visualize a well-planned and well co-ordinated Operation Outer Space the first orbital flight of a manned ship looks as if it were six or seven years in the future.

John David Hamers, RCN, $50 and licence suspension for careless driving and $50 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Sidney Henry James Bellther, 3515 Upper Terrace, $30 for speeding over 50 and $25 for driving without a licence.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Michael Brown, aged 11, of Nashville, Tenn., for his question:

What Is An Atomic Clock?

The atomic clock is Nature's own time piece. It is powered by radioactivity. It has recorded time with perfect accuracy for billions of years and will do so for billions of years to come. Most atoms are stable bundles of particles, and they remain that way. An atom gets its character from the number of particles in the heart or nucleus. The internal structure of certain large atoms seems to be unstable and tend to break apart. When this happens, the original atom becomes an atom of something else. Energy is given off in the process.

These are the radioactive atoms that make the Geiger counter click. Nature's atomic clock is made from the radioactive materials in the earth's crust. Slowly but surely, each store of radioactive material is breaking down into material made of stable atoms which change no more. Because the process happens with accuracy and precision we can use it to measure time—billions of years of time.

The process of radioactivity usually takes place in a series of steps. At each step, a bigger atom becomes a smaller atom and radioactive energy is released. This is Nature's method of nuclear fission or atom smashing. One such decay process occurs in Uranium 238. The number refers to the proton and neutron particles in the nucleus of this big, unstable atom. In any store of this material, atoms are breaking up with the regularity of clock-work.

In 4½ billion years, exactly half the original store of U-238 will have decayed. In the next 4½ billion years, half the remaining store of U-238 will decay. Half of what remains will decay in the next 4½-billion years. This stupendous number of years is the half life of U-238. Meantime the radioactivity continues in a series of steps.

The U-238 atoms that broke up became atoms of Thorium 234. In 21.10 days, half these unstable atoms become Protactinium, half of which becomes Uranium 234 in 1.14 minutes. The half life of Thorium 234 is 21.10 minutes, the half life of Protactinium is 1.14 minutes. The half life of Uranium 234 is 260,000 years. Half of it becomes Thorium 230, also called Ionium in 80,000 years. In another 80,000 years, half the Ionium will be precious Radium. Radium has a half life of 1,620 years. Every hospital knows that in 1,620 years, its precious store of radium will be decayed.

Nature's Progress Regular

No one can halt or speed up Nature's radioactive process. It is regular as clockwork. In fact, it is the atomic clock. Every store of radioactive material in the earth's crust punches this time clock with bursts of atomic energy. Experts can examine rocks containing radioactive materials and measure the amount of decay. They know exactly how long the radioactivity has been in process.

Radioactive materials occur in many rocks. In 4½ billion years, the original amount of U-238 in a rock will have become lead 206. The amount of this special lead present tells the age of the rock. That rock was an atomic clock. So far, the oldest atomic clock discovered registered about two billion years. So we know that our old earth has had at least two billion birthdays.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to John Dallas Long, age 12, of Tidewater, Va., for his question:

What is the lowest place in the world?

The continents lift up in great land masses above the level of the sea. The waters of the oceans rest in deep basins which sink way below the surface. The lowest areas on the earth would then be the floors of the vast ocean beds. In certain places there are deep gouges in the ocean floor called troughs. Off Puerto Rico is a deep hole reaching down 30,000 feet below the surface. In the Pacific, off Mindanao is a hole almost 35,000 feet deep. So far as we know these are the deepest areas on earth.

Traviata Performance Impresses

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

It would not take a highly discerning critic to spot the errors and omissions in the New York Opera Festival production of Verdi's "La Traviata" at the Royal Theatre Thursday night.

On the other hand there was soprano Kathy Miller and orchestra leader Francesco Foti; two people whose gifts, technical skill and musicianship were bound to impress the most discerning. In fact it was well worth while the opera-starved capacity audience braving fog up to the eyebrows for the pleasure these two, and the 25-piece orchestra, were able to provide.

Tall, blonde, charming Kathy Miller is 23 years old and was singing the role of Violetta for only the second time. Nevertheless she gave a performance that both histrionically and vocally was memorable.

A soprano voice of totally unexpected and moving beauty, flexible and while powerful, capable of the most tender coloring, has scarcely been eclipsed by anything this reviewer has heard, either live or on records.

Her technical command and excellence of production are such that the singer is capable of a completely uninhibited physical interpretation. And with all this she is sensitive to the dramatic and musical demands of the role, so that her acting has a genuine and natural quality.

To sum up, Kathy Miller is definitely a star in the ascendant, a gal with a name destined to be written in light.

Controlling genius of the production, conductor Foti guided a fair orchestra and indifferent chorus with a skill that repeatedly roused admiration.

Arthur Budney, singing the elder Germont, displayed a good, well-trained baritone but entirely failed to inspire the role with any life or feeling.

Unfortunately the part of Alfredo, originally to have been sung by Robert Weede Jr., due to illness in the company, was sung by understudy James Cosenza. This young man shows symptoms of developing a good tenor when he gains full technical control. Certainly it is powerful; and just as certainly he has everything to learn about acting.

Scenery was quite elaborate and effective but costumes were somewhat haphazard and revealed no design as to color relationship or harmony. Violetta's second act costume was particularly horrible and hindered the singer in visually creating the mood.

Executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova will arrive in Victoria next Wednesday, a prelude to speaking engagements at Duncan Nov. 14; Ladysmith Nov. 15 and Sidney Nov. 18. Since its creation in August, 1945, the committee, a voluntary, non-denominational relief and rehabilitation agency, has offered help to victims of war, natural disaster and underdevelopment in Europe and Asia.

MAYOR'S VIEW:

Use Before Beauty Rule For Firehall

Utility, not aesthetic values, must govern the selection of site for Victoria's new fire hall, Mayor Percy Scurrell said Thursday.

"Regardless of the Capital Region Planning Board, the fire hall has to be placed where it will best serve the people," he said.

Ald. Austin Curtis, chairman of the city fire wardens committee, told a meeting today there had been criticism expressed because the CRPB was not officially asked to select a site.

He said when his committee decided to recommend the Central Junior High School grounds as a site it was discussed informally with a director of the board, "...and he agreed with our thinking on the matter."

The fire department had agreed the hall must be located east of the downtown area to better protect residential property.

"In view of this it was not felt necessary to take up the time of the planning board," Ald. Curtis stated.

City Hall Plus Auditorium Possible Future Project

A suggestion that planners should consider a combined civic auditorium and city hall as a future Victoria project was made to council finance committee Thursday.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said, if a recent Capital Region Planning Board scheme for a new city hall opposite Christ Church Cathedral is followed up, the hall should be built above an auditorium which would seat 2,500 people.

"The cost would be less than if we constructed a separate auditorium," he said. An auditorium is "beyond our means at present."

"If you could accommodate 2,500 people you'd have all you'd require for years to come, even if the city grows to 200,000 population."

The discussion followed receipt of a letter at finance committee meeting which objected to the plan to put a new city hall near the cathedral.

The writer said, "It will destroy the architectural beauty of the cathedral."

Nimmo Appointed Parade Marshal

CHEMUNUS — Services of the Salvation Army Citadel band of Victoria have been obtained for the annual Remembrance Day services here Monday.

Parade will fall in at the Canadian Legion at 10:15 a.m. James Nimmo has been named parade marshal.

Election of incoming officers of Branch 191, Canadian Legion will be held Dec. 12. On Dec. 14 the new branch officers will be installed along with the new Legion Auxiliary officers.

The annual Christmas party for the children of veterans will be held on the afternoon of Dec. 14.

14 KILLED

Heavy Damage As Twisters Hit 3 States

From AP and UP Dispatches

ALEXANDRIA, La. — Late fall tornadoes, slashing suddenly out of the rain and thunder, killed at least 14 persons in Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas Thursday night and this morning.

More than 100 persons were injured. Nine died in Louisiana, three in Texas and two in Mississippi. A baby tornado struck the Selma, Ala., area but no one was reported injured there.

The storms hit hardest at Alexandria, La., where three persons were killed Thursday night in the 10-block residential section that served as the tornado's target. A couple died at Carencro, La., and two men were killed near Crowley, La.

The storms hit communities throughout south central Louisiana with heavy rains and high winds accompanying them.

Several communities reported scores of persons injured. The Boyce community near Alexandria reported at least 15 injured while 81 were hurt in Orange, Tex., where a housing development was smashed.

A house fell on a police squad car in Alexandria and a tree, ripped out of the ground by the twisting wind, fell squarely across another police car, crushing it. Four policemen in the cars narrowly escaped death.

"I was driving down the street and here comes a house flying along," one policeman said. "The other officers and myself just had time to tumble out of the car, before the house dropped on top of it and smashed it to bits."

West Cheered By Ike's Talk

(See Page 11 for Eisenhower Speech)

LONDON (Reuters)—Big, confident headlines and enthusiastic government reaction in the free world capitals today greeted President Eisenhower's television address Thursday night.

From London to Tokyo, government officials expressed reassurance over U.S. military striking power as a result of the president's statement.

U.S. allies were especially pleased at Eisenhower's support for pooling of scientific effort in the free world. British opinion at the highest level is convinced of the need to set up a NATO scientific pool to eliminate competitive research within the western alliance.

British officials gave an enthusiastic reception to Eisenhower's announcement that U.S. scientists have secured the successful return to the earth of rockets shot into outer space. They said that this was one of the toughest problems facing scientists on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The officials also welcomed Eisenhower's appeal to Russia to align herself with the western disarmament proposals approved this week by a majority of the United Nations.

Every British national newspaper treated the speech as the top news item of the day.

"Ike's Man For the Moon," bannered the Conservative Daily Sketch of Dr. James Killian's appointment as science chief.

"Ike's Ace Rocket," headlined the left wing Daily Mirror in reference to the success of U.S. scientists in bringing the nose cone of a space rocket back into the earth's atmosphere.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the U.S. satellite program, Dr. John P. Hagen, said today "I wouldn't be surprised" if the Russians launch a Sputnik each month until the end of 1958.

Teachers' 18% Wage Demand Shocks Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal charge that the Progressive Conservative government has backed out on election promises was renewed in the Commons today.

Walter Tucker, Liberal spokesman on veterans' affairs, said the country will be surprised that no increases are being made this fall in disability pensions for veterans "especially in the light of what was promised by the prime minister when he was campaigning in the last election."

Veterans Minister Brooks denied that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had made such a promise.

OTTAWA (CP)—A qualified government official predicted today unemployment this winter will likely hit at least 750,000, the highest since the end of the Second World War.

The previous post-war high was in February, 1955, when 619,000 persons were seeking jobs. Estimates earlier this year were that unemployment during the coming year would not go much above 550,000.

Informants attributed the unemployment rise to an increase in the size of the labor force, caused partly by immigration and softening of certain segments of the economy.

HARD HIT AREAS

Areas expected to be hardest hit by lack of jobs include British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec and the Maritimes. Least affected by unemployment will likely be the Prairie Provinces, where construction activity and mineral development continues at a strong pace.

Informants said unemployment in the Vancouver area rose earlier than usual and will likely increase more as the winter progresses. (See figures page 10.)

The source said conditions will probably improve by spring in this area, but perhaps not as rapidly or to the extent of the last few years, particularly in lumbering and manufacturing of wood products.

The lumbering, pulp and paper, saw mill, plywood and mining industries all were reported curtailing activity in many parts of Canada.

During September, Canada's jobless total climbed by 20,000 to 194,000. This is about 3.2 per cent of the labor force, almost twice as great as the 1.7 per cent last year.

Sources said unemployment during October climbed by at least 25,000 to 30,000. The labor force in September was estimated at 6,048,000, compared with 6,131,000 one month earlier.

The number of Victorians unemployed rose this week by 242 to a total of 3,149. National Employment Service manager James Fox said the total was about 600 higher than at the same time last year.

The figure included 2,114 men and 1,035 women seeking work.

W. H. GOLBY
... staggered.

Boost Would Cost Average Taxpayer $12

By PETE LOUDON

An 18 per cent wage boost, equal to $553,355 has been requested of Greater Victoria School Board by the 687-member Teachers' Association, it was learned today.

Victoria School Board chairman W. H. Golby called the request "staggering."

Sooke School Board also has been asked to increase teachers' salaries by $47,875, or 16 per cent.

If granted, the wage requests would hike Greater Victoria taxes by about $12 on the average home.

The wage requests were part of a six-point program put forward at a meeting Monday of teachers' bargaining representatives and Greater Victoria trustees' finance committee.

The teachers also are requesting Medical Services Association (MSA) coverage, consideration of sabbatical leave, increases for department heads not included in teacher salary scales, and some slight changes in wording of present contract clauses.

The teachers' salary committee chairman, Walter J. Kitley, principal of Tillicum School, presented the case for the GVTA. Trustee Kenneth Leeming is chairman of the board's finance committee.

The teachers' brief pointed to Russian scientific successes as evidence "... the Western world is not contributing a large enough share of its income and resources to education."

The new salary scale requested by the teachers would mean increases ranging between 11.11 and 29.64 per cent, with the average set at 17.937 per cent.

It would mean increases from $3,150 to $3,500, $4,050 to $4,850, $4,400 to $5,400, in three categories of elementary school teachers.

Under the terms of the Public Schools Act, bargaining must be completed by February 14, 1958. There was indication bargaining meetings will be lively.

Victoria school board chairman W. H. Golby said of the wage request: "It is staggering."

Young estimated this would mean an increase in taxes for the average home of roughly $12 if the request is met.

The initial meeting between the board members and bargaining committee did not discuss wages. Mr. Leeming said a promise was given that the board would "study and consider" the requests and a further meeting would be held Wednesday, Nov. 20.

MSA Consideration Refused

Mr. Leeming said the board would not give consideration to the request for MSA coverage "until provision has been established in the Public Schools Act," which would enable boards to contribute to such a scheme.

Consideration has not yet been given the teachers' request for a study of sabbatical leave. (In some universities, senior faculty members are granted one year in seven, holiday with pay. The year is usually spent in rest, travel or study. Sabbaticals are not normally granted except in the case of senior and valued professors.)

Here are highlights of the teachers' brief:

"Recent Russian technological success has dramatically underscored the point we have been trying to make for the past several years — the Western world is not contributing a large enough share of its income and resources to education."

"It seems ironic that an economy which can produce such a quality of goods as ours, cannot provide anything like sufficient manpower to supply the demands of our educational system ..."

"... The continuing disinclination of our young people to enter the profession in sufficient quantities is evidence of the foregoing ..."

"The statement said 1,750 new teachers would be needed in B.C. in 1958 and only 750 will be available."

Mixed Beer Parlors Soon For Alberta

CALGARY (CP) — The provincial cabinet will instruct the Alberta Liquor Control Board to prepare the regulations necessary for the establishment of mixed drinking in Calgary and Edmonton "without any undue delay whatever" Hon. F. C. Colborne, minister without portfolio, said today.

The decision is being taken following the Oct. 30 plebiscite in which both Calgary and Edmonton voted overwhelmingly in favor of men and women being allowed to drink beer in the same establishment.

The two cities were the only ones in Alberta where the privilege was not allowed. Calgary voted 49,339 for mixed drinking and 11,455 against.

Hoffa Wins Delay

NEW YORK (AP)—James R. Hoffa today won postponement of his federal court perjury trial until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on the admissibility of state-obtained wiretaps as evidence.

Fallout 'Negligible' In U.K. Nuclear Blast

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced she exploded a nuclear weapon at a high altitude today over the central Pacific.

The explosion heralded the start of a new series of British tests in the area of Christmas Island. Last May and June British nuclear scientists fired off three H-bombs in an opening series.

Today's announcement followed by only a few hours British rejection of another Japanese request that she call off plans for new H-bomb tests in the Pacific. Japanese Ambassador Haruhiko Nishi then asked that Britain accept responsibility for any damage to Japanese lives and property which might result from the new tests.

The ministry of supply said indications are that radioactive fallout from today's blast will be negligible.

Summit Talk Useless Now, Asserts Lloyd

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today turned down a suggestion by Nikita Khrushchev for an early summit conference of Communist and western governments.

He told the House of Commons there is nothing in Russia's deeds to suggest that such a meeting now could accomplish any purpose.

"Summit talks which are a failure do more harm than no talks at all," Lloyd said. "But that does not mean that we believe no summit talks should ever take place."

Lloyd cited last year's Hungarian incident as proof of Russia's determination to ruthlessly suppress any attempt to break away from a Communist empire.

Lloyd said Soviet Communist party secretary Khrushchev recently has seemed to imply that Britain has become a second-rate power.

"Many others have made that miscalculation before," Lloyd asserted.

MOSCOW (UP) — Observers speculated today that the Sputnik dog will not live very much longer.

The official Soviet news agency Tass has reported the dog, Laika (Little Barker) is still alive but the communiques indicated only the dog's basic reactions are being registered.

The agency said equipment on the earth "continued registering the main physiological functions of the animal ... in Satellite II."

Previous communiques said the health of the dog was satisfactory.

There were hints that the dog might eventually be brought back to earth alive, but a leading Soviet scientist said early this week the dog might not live more than ten days.

Radio signals from Sputnik II have kept Soviet scientists informed of Laika's breathing and circulation.

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet radio expert said today that specially designed "complex" radio equipment "steered" Sputnik II and its passenger dog into their orbit around the earth.

TEACHERS

graduate from training colleges. Victoria is not attracting sufficient replacement teachers.

"While past reception of new building schemes has been frustrating and disappointing in the extreme, there is yet to be shown any real opposition to salary increases for teachers actually exists."

"If there were such, surely you would not now be begging the community to give you a contest at the polls this December."

SOOKE BOOST

The Sooke school district wage request—16 per cent or $47,875 for 70 teachers—represents a 2½ mill increase in the district tax rate for schools.

Sooke school board chairman John Williams said the request "... follows hard on the heels of a 10 per cent increase granted last year."

He said this caused the 1957 board to reduce school maintenance in order to avoid "a sharp rise in school taxes."

"Judging by the amounts of the current demands it appears that they were submitted on the recommendation of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, as the board was informed that the demands represent one-third of a planned three-year campaign of salary increases by that body."

"We are well aware," said Mr. Williams, "of a present serious shortage of qualified teachers in the province and of the need to attract more of our brighter students into the teaching profession."

NO CURE-ALL

"However, we are not convinced that continuous substantial salary increases are the cure-all for this problem."

He said his board had previously agreed "reasonable salary increases" would be considered, "... we were totally unprepared to consider increases amounting to more than $1,000 in certain categories, which would put some of our teachers in the $9,000 bracket."

He said little hope of substantial increases exists until the department of education increases salary grant formula.

"Although we have been promised a revision in the grant structure, no relief has as yet been forthcoming, and any salary increases are thus a direct charge on the local taxpayer."

He said the board does not intend to cut school maintenance or improvement this year in order to pay higher salaries, while commending the cordial relations between the teachers and the board.

Doubt Burgess, Maclean Killed

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today discounted reports the former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean have been liquidated in Russia.

Answering a question at his daily press conference, a foreign office spokesman said: "I have no reason to believe these reports to be correct."

There were circulated following the return to the United States from Moscow of an American congressman who said that a letter suggesting the two men had met with an "accident" had been surreptitiously placed in his pocket.

EFFEL TOWER TOO MUCH FOR EVEREST CONQUEROR

PARIS (AP)—Tensing Norqay, one of the conquerors of Everest, climbed the Eiffel Tower today—by elevator and only to the first level. "Too foggy," he said.

The 43-year-old Nepalese Sherpa, who reached the top of Mount Everest 29,002 feet to the tower's 984 with Sir Edmund Hillary in 1953, is winding up a European tour. He said before heading home to his mountain guide school that he'd like to try Everest again some time but he's too busy right now.

THEY ALL TALK ABOUT—

Sputnik Oddities Around the World

LONDON (Reuters)—Two Londoners were overheard discussing Russian and American Sputnik projects today.

"This second Russian earth satellite with the dog weighs 1,118 pounds," said one, "and the one the Americans plan to send up is only 4½ pounds."

"Yes," said the other man,

"the Russians send up the dog and the Yanks send up the fleas."

LIMOGES, France (Reuters)—Farmer Rene Richard claims the first Russian satellite has made one of his hens lay a satellite-shaped egg. It is perfectly round and has three projections from the shell, he said.

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—The Buffalo county board of mental health Thursday night ordered R. O. Schmidt, 58-year-old "space ship" story teller, committed to the state hospital for observation and treatment. Schmidt last Tuesday told a fantastic story of visiting on the banks of the Platte River a "space ship" manned by four "space men" and two "space women."

DETROIT (AP)—Dog officer Harold F. Baker of suburban Huntington Woods has obtained a warrant charging Laika, the dog passenger on Russia's Sputnik II, with being at large without a dog licence.

The warrant charges Laika was within the city limits early Thursday as Sputnik passed overhead. The warrant is returnable in justice court Nov. 26—if Baker is able to serve it.

LOVES TO WANDER

Five-Year-Old Boy Missing 11 Hours

A blonde five-year-old boy, mother Mrs. J. D. Peterson, 156 Joseph said. Christopher Cook had been the object of a search by two shifts of city police, naval shore patrol, soldiers and 40 Fairfield district neighbors after Mrs. Peterson reported him missing at 7:30 p.m.

The little boy was found by searchers at about 11, curled asleep in a garage two doors from his home.

Christopher had been playing with a friend until 5 p.m., then left him, and apparently followed a cat into the garage.

The boy, who had refused to put on a jacket at noon, stayed to get warm and fell asleep.

Taken home to his mother Mrs. June Cook, he was put into a hot bath and fed a mid-night snack.

His mother and grandmother were "relieved, happy and just a bit annoyed."

Christopher "loves to wander," they said.

B.C. Inventor Offers U.S. Better 'Moon'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver inventor says he has offered the U.S. government a "revolutionary flying saucer-type" aircraft that he claims will out-distance Sputniks.

Inventor Alex Johnson said he has already moved "material" by using a fantastically lightweight motor that uses a new power of "energy."

With a full crew, he says, his circular machine will reach a speed of 9,000 miles a minute and will stay in the air 15 days.

"We could be on the moon within a year," he said.

The U.S. government is interested, says Mr. Johnson, who has a letter signed by General Samuel Anderson, chief of the air research and development board in Washington, offering an interview with Gen. Paul Ney, head of the Los Angeles branch of the board.

Mr. Johnson says he will not offer the new invention to Canada because he doubts whether Ottawa has enough money to put the machine in the air.

He wants $1,000,000 with which he says he can produce a model to prove his claim.

See What I Mean?—I Can't

THE gentleman who drove me home Wednesday night dropped me at the corner, so he could make the turn, follow the white line on the road and eventually reach his own garage.

I stumbled along, enjoying the unfamiliar bulk of trees looming up through the heavy mist and the general sense of newness and strangeness a familiar scene assumes when the air is opaque.

Finally I pushed through my own door, stood in the dazzling light and pronounced dramatically to the lady there: "Madame, I've been in a fog."

She looked up from the game of bridge she was playing all by herself to query, "To you that's new?"

It's that way in our house. If you want to be dramatic, you have to give a first-class performance. Anything less draws only a yawn, a hollow laugh or a comment that whittles you down to size.

And come to think of it, being in a fog isn't too unusual in my case. I very seldom see things in sharp black and white. Usually they're grey and a bit indefinite in outline. This, I rationalize, is because of an inherent tolerance. I'm no positivist. For years I've believed that how a thing looks depends largely on where you sit.

CURTAINS IN BETWEEN

Also, the outline of the image is modified by the intervening shades of opinion you acquire through experience.

My outlook may be influenced, too, by an inclination to physical myopia. As the kids say, I don't see so good so far.

I'm conscious of the fact that my disability robs me of a great deal. For nigh on half a century I've lived by the water. Never in that time have I seen "Caddy." I've been in the Okanagan when "The Courier" has carried stories on Ogo-pogo cavorting in the lake. But it never showed for my benefit.

Stott

Even this year, when our new neighbors began to enjoy the delights of waterfront living, they were able to pick out things to which I was blind.

They asked me, in high excitement one afternoon, if I had seen the seals playing near the mouth of the bay. I looked in the general direction, and all I could see was a ground swell twisting and lifting over the reefs out there. When I put the glass on the scene, the movement of water did look as if animals were thrashing around just below the surface and breaking water occasionally. But I couldn't see a seal.

NU THERE, THE COMET

This summer, on a visit to Brentwood, friends held my head pointing in the right direction and focussed their binoculars on the comet to make sure I had a glimpse of it. It took about half an hour to convince me, but I did see the comet—I think.

Once, fishing in the Strait with a cousin who had been an RCAF tail-gunner, we picked up the drone of a distant aircraft.

"There it is," he told me.

I screwed up my eyes and squinted into the wide blue yonder before asking "Where."

"Just about 12 o'clock," he said.

Merely to seem informed I queried: "One of ours?"

"One of ours," he replied. "Can't you see it? Boy, I'd hate to have you sitting over my tail gun."

You see? I don't see.

So I don't bother looking for the "nicks" sput mutt or Zhuk. When I lift my eyes to the skies at night, it's only to look at the stars or the moon. Maybe I don't see as many stars as people with sharper eyes, but my loss is only relative. There are so many stars which the people of finist vision cannot see that my reduced perception is negligible.

Still, I'd like to have a good view of "Caddy." And I can't understand why it's denied me. After all, a man of my easy familiarity with leprechauns should be able to establish contact with a friendly sea monster even in a fog—if you see what I mean.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

Door Still Closed

NEW YORK—India's efforts to pry the door of the United Nations open for Communist China failed in the General Assembly, but there is little doubt that the Indians did manage to weaken the position of the Nationalist Chinese in the process.

What happened was a victory for the United States, which has not wavered over the years in its opposition to the admission of Communist China. At the last General Assembly session, there was an increase in the support for Peiping when the resolution on the subject was introduced by India, rather than by Russia as had been the case in previous years.

It had been expected that there would be a further significant increase in support for the Red Chinese this year, but such was not the case—the American position held firm, and the debate on the subject was short, if not sweet.

The final vote, rejecting India's proposal to place the representation of China on the agenda and deciding not to have any further discussion of the matter at this session, was 48 to 27, with six abstentions. Last year, the vote on a similar resolution was 47 to 24, with eight abstentions—the only new supporters for the Chinese Communist cause this year were Ghana, Morocco and Ireland. Ghana had not been admitted to the UN when last year's vote was taken, and Morocco and Ireland at that time voted against Red China.

NOT WELCOME

There can not be much doubt that the vote this year was more than ever one against the Communists, rather than one in favor of the Nationalists. The Nationalist Chinese delegates here naturally were elated by the result, since it preserves their tenure in the Chinese seat here, and along with that their status as one of the five "Great Powers," possessing the veto power in the Security Council.

But it did nothing to improve the somewhat unenviable position in which the Nationalist Chinese find themselves. They represent a great Asian power, but they are not welcome in the councils of the African-Asian bloc of nations. The treatment that they are accorded here by a great many powers, quite beyond the contempt shown them by the Soviets and their satellites, must be hard to bear.

Lynch

Their utterances in the Security Council and the assembly scarcely command the attention usually given when a great power speaks—in fact, they are scarcely listened to at all.

And in his final remarks before this week's vote was taken, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge of the United States used words that must have given the Nationalists small comfort, for they scarcely indicated that even the U.S. regards the Nationalists as the government of China.

This is what Mr. Lodge said: "The argument that is made by those who wish to inscribe on the agenda this item about the representation of China boils down to the one word, realism. In other words, no matter how much you may like it or dislike it, there it is, and that ought to be enough."

"Well, I think that is true in so far as internal affairs go. It is none of our affair here in the United Nations whether the internal administration of a country is Marxian Communist or Soviet Communist... that is not our business here. But the question of what they do when they try to spread across their borders is another matter... let me point out that the United Nations is an organization that is not engaged in promoting realism; it is an organization that has a moral standard."

BRANDED AGGRESSORS

"The fact is that the United Nations itself, officially and formally and after due consideration, branded the Chinese Communists as aggressors in Korea, and it seems to me reasonable to hold that the United Nations settled this issue when it took that position. If it wants to unsettle it, let it repeal that decision. But that has never been done."

"We oppose this proposal not because of our disapproval of the internal social system in China, not because the present regime there was not popularly elected, not because it came to power by violence, but simply because to admit the Chinese Communists would stultify the United Nations and would thus destroy the usefulness of the United Nations."

This point of view expressed by Mr. Lodge carried the day—but observers noted the fact that while his remarks were aimed against the Chinese Communists, he did not go out of his way to underline support for the Nationalist Chinese either as the rightful government of China, or the rightful representatives of China here at the United Nations. Such support was, of course, implied in what he said—but in fact, he did not mention the Nationalist Chinese at all.

Happy Russians Revel at Party

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Russians were tickled pink.

They undoubtedly had scored

Thursday night one of the great social successes of the season.

The dark mood of the Hungarian revolt was gone.

The austere, limestone Russian embassy was alive with laughter and an assortment of pretty gowns, jewels and

halls were jammed with diplomats from both East and West — along with top representatives of the Canadian govern-

sians celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Communist revolution.

The success of the Soviet in launching the two earth girdling

Sputniks was the main theme of conversation.

ARDUOUS CHORE

So heavy was the line of guests that Soviet Ambassador

Dmitri Chuvahin stood for more than two hours, shaking hands with arrivals. He had time for one drink and then got back in the line to wish the guests farewell.

"Why haven't you gone to the

smile.

"Give us time," replied Mr.

Chuvahin with good cheer. "You are in too much of a hurry."

The reception halls grew hot as the guests piled up, scrambling for the turkey, sucking pig, caviar, shrimp and other delicacies spread on three large

erages flowed freely from three bars.

The mood was gay, a striking

Chuvahin's reception a year ago when the Russians had marched

stamped out a revolt.

Acclamation Possible for Council Seats

dates to contest council seats in Victoria next month was expressed Thursday by returning officer M. F. Hunter.

With less than a month to nomination day (Dec. 5), there is no sign of a contest developing.

Mayor Scurrah and three aldermen have signified they will stand for re-election. Ald. J.

Donald Smith, who holds the fourth seat which expires next month, has not made his plans known.

As the picture now stands,

Victoria's 1957 council could be returned by acclamation.

last aldermanic election campaign in 1955, there were three candidates in the running for

dates, other than incumbent aldermen, had entered the race for council.

Mr. Hunter pointed out qualifications for a candidate for mayor or council are greatly reduced this year and the election contest is open to a far wider number of residents.

Candidates no longer require

$500 clear equity in their property. Now anyone who was on the voters list last year as a property owner, may run for office this year, if he is a

British subject, over 21 years of age.

Standard Grade Only Affected

Motorists are almost certain to gain through a reduction in the wholesale price of standard grade gasoline, announced today by Imperial Oil Ltd.

The price cut amounts to one-half cent per gallon on the standard gas for automobiles and tractor and marine fuels. There will be no reduction in the price for premium grade gasoline or other company products.

"We set only the wholesale price, and dealers set their own retail prices," a company spokesman said here.

A dealer, in turn, said the reduction would be passed on to the consumer.

"I don't know what the other stations will be doing, but I'm pretty certain the price will be dropped by tonight or first thing Saturday," he said.

COMPETITIVE

The standard grade gasoline accounts for about 40 per cent of the total gasoline sales for automobiles.

The reduction is one cent per gallon on the products concerned in the Maritimes, Quebec and part of Ontario, and one-half cent in the rest of Canada.

According to a company announcement the reduction was made as a competitive move.

A check with other oil companies regarding the Imperial move and a possible matching price change drew the same answer from all: "We have had no instructions."

An experienced member of the service station trade suggested all would observe the price cut shortly.

"All companies seem to follow a price line," he said. "I think they will all follow suit on this price cut."

Labor Warns Oil Strike May Spread

An oil workers' union leader, Thursday, said Victoria was the "nerve centre" of a move to "destroy our union" which could explode into a province-wide strike against the oil industry.

The charge was denied today by a spokesman for Imperial Oil Ltd.

Vern Barber, president of the 1,000-strong union, which covers all of B.C., said in an interview that Imperial Oil was using its marketing plan in Esquimalt, near Work Point, to supply Vancouver Island and the mainland coast with "hot" petroleum shipped in from the United States with the aid of non-union workers.

He said the move was being made in an effort to "destroy" the union, involved in a six-week-old strike at the Ioco refinery near Vancouver.

Mr. Barber said that union contracts with the other five oil companies in B.C. had expired in August and now were before conciliation.

"If Imperial Oil, as the market leader, doesn't sit down at the bargaining table to reach an honorable settlement soon, it is probable that strike action will spread across the province," he threatened.

An Imperial Oil spokesman said none of the company's marketing plants, including the one in Victoria, were involved in the strike.

He said Imperial has been bargaining "in good faith" throughout the Ioco strike and only last week a company proposal was turned down by the union.

"The company is not attempting to break the strike. It is attempting to settle it," he said. "We have a standing offer before the union which would provide conditions comparable, and in some respects better, to conditions prevalent in the industry across Canada."

Civil Servants Get Yule Leave

Federal civil servants and prevailing rate employees probably will get time off on the afternoons before Christmas and New Year's Day, the civil service commission said in Ottawa today.

The government has indicated it will approve provisions for the two half-holidays, the commission said.

Any time worked on the two afternoons likely will be regarded as time worked on a statutory holiday for purposes of overtime pay, the commission said.

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS MAIL CLOSING DATES ANNOUNCED

Deadline for Christmas mail postings from here to Great Britain is Nov. 30, and to the European continent, Nov. 26, the Post Office announced today.

This applies to other than air mail. Airborne mail deadline from here to Great Britain is Dec. 13, and to the Continent, Dec. 11.

Parcel post must be mailed several days earlier in all instances.

The deadlines apply also for mailing to military personnel in England and the Continent.

As usual, the Post Office urges persons to "mail early."

HIGHER IN SKY

Many Here See Pupnik Pass

The dog-bearing Sputnik II passed over Victoria on schedule at 5.50 this morning and was seen by several scientists at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain.

All agreed that the Sputnik is accelerating its speed across the heavens and may be on the last stage of its travels around the world.

Dr. J. A. Pearce of the observatory staff had the longest view. He watched the Sputnik for two minutes and 50 seconds from the time it first appeared in the south southwest until it disappeared in the northeast.

He was standing at the foot of Mount Douglas on Blenkinsop Road.

"It was higher in the sky than yesterday (5.40 a.m. Thursday) and there were considerable variations in its brightness—bright, faint, bright, faint, as it moved across the sky."

"This could be because the third stage of the rocket—the one containing the dog—is revolving and is bright or faint according to the way it is pointing to the sun."

SPEEDIER

Dr. Pearce said the apparent faster speed of the Sputnik could be due to its higher altitude. Its altitude varies from 150 to 900 miles above the earth and it is usually at a lower point when crossing the Pacific Northwest.

Plotting the course of the satellite, Dr. Pearce noted that it was first seen close to the star Procyon, then travelled through the constellation of Leo and close to three stars of the Great Bear—Gamma, Delta and Epsilon.

"It appeared to have a maximum altitude of about 40 degrees," he said. (Thursday's maximum altitude was given as 30 degrees.)

The Sputnik is expected to make another appearance over Victoria early Saturday at about 6 a.m. It is approximately 10 minutes later every day.

"Observers should look for it in a south-westerly direction, as we did this morning, and they should naturally choose a spot where that part of the sky is unobscured," Dr. Pearce said.

U.S. Academy Soccer Team At Royal Roads

Canadian Services College Royal Roads, Saturday will field a soccer team here against a team from the U.S. Air Force Academy, Denver, Colo.

The game, open to the public, starts at 2 p.m. The U.S. air cadets, 20 in number, were scheduled to arrive in Victoria today.

For the past two years, sports teams have visited between Royal Roads and the U.S. academy.

Saturday there will be a dance at the college in honor of the visiting team, and Sunday the U.S. cadets will join those at Royal Roads in a church parade.

PGE Refunding Awaits Better Market Picture

Poor market conditions have led to a government decision to hold off a $30,000,000 Pacific Great Eastern Railway bond issue.

"We're picking our time when to go to the market and it isn't now," a government spokesman said today.

He denied however that the issue was being "postponed" since no definite date had been picked.

Decision not to go ahead at this time was made after discussions this week in New York between J. V. Fisher, B.C. economic adviser, and officials of Morgah Stanley and Company, the government's chief dealer in the U.S.

The $30,000,000 bond issue is for refunding purposes and the delay will not cause any cutbacks in PGE spending, government officials say.

Hubcaps, Radio, Wood Stolen in Rash of Thefts

A rash of thefts ranging from hubcaps to three cords of wood was reported to city police Thursday.

Four hubcaps were stolen from a car owned by G. V. Sanderson, 2630 Heron, while it was parked at the rear of the Strathcona Hotel between 7 and 9 p.m., and two hubcaps from W. F. Hibbert's car parked in front of his home at 1419 Harrison.

Lika Singh, 116 Gorge, reported three cords of 4" slab wood stolen from his woodyard on Topaz Avenue.

A custom car radio was stolen from his car while it was parked on Garbally Street, C. A. Peck, 1143 Pandora, told police.

And there was one "find." James G. Johnston, Harbor View Road, turned in a red leather wallet containing $50.12 which he found on Blanshard Street, near St. Andrew's Cathedral at about 4.45 p.m.

STORE OWNERS PLEAD GUILTY ON FIREWORKS SALE CHARGES

Three Chinese store proprietors pleaded guilty in city police court today to selling Halloween fireworks after hours.

Fined $15 each were Joe Wo, 545 Fisgard; Albert Yuen, 1411 Government, and Chew Chow, 799 Fort. Mr. Chow was fined an additional $15 for selling fireworks to a minor.

Jackie Chow, 1400 Hillside, pleaded not guilty to selling fireworks to a minor, and was remanded to next Friday for trial when a charge of selling fireworks after hours also will be read.

Dock 'Facelift' Costs $600,000

A $600,000 modernization program is under way at the Government Graving Dock in Esquimalt.

Complete rewiring and rehabilitation of the giant drydock's entire electrical system is scheduled to take the better part of a year.

Work began this week on a 150-foot tunnel connecting the pump house to the existing service tunnel ringing the drydock to make connection with docked ships' electrical systems more efficient. A standby diesel generator for operation in event of power failures also is under construction.

The drydock's electrical system, installed in 1926, will be changed over from direct current to alternating current to accommodate systems in naval ships and newer merchantmen.

Most of the expenditure will be on materials but about a dozen jobs will be created by the project. Work will proceed in broken intervals to prevent closing of the dock during the project.

Three new sub-stations housing electrical equipment also will be built. Contractor for the project is Ricketts-Sewell Electric Ltd., of Vancouver. Sub-contractor for CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT began digging huge holes for Government Graving Drydock this week as new service tunnel took shape in $600,000 project. Job is expected to take nearly a year to complete.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have just finished a careful study of the dog and the cat who live at our house, namely, Judy Boots Streak and Little Miss Muffet.

And I have come to the conclusion that, if there is such a thing as reincarnation, I would choose to come back as a cat.

This may surprise those of you who know my fondness for dogs.

But I would not wish to be a dog, because some dogs are expected to do things, such as hunt or retrieve or fetch slippers or pull a sleigh.

It would be just my luck to be re-incarnated as a male-mute hitched to a sleigh in the frozen north.

Other dogs are expected to do tricks, and some of them do so in such fashion that their masters are supported in a life of ease.

Cats, on the other hand, are never expected to do anything.

Can you imagine a cat expected to pull a sleigh? Or perform a trick?

Ask a cat to perform a trick, and she will walk away, washing her whiskers in utter disdain.

Naturally, if I were re-incarnated as a cat, I would wish to be a cat in the kind of home the Cats' Protection League would wish for all cats.

I would be willing to take a chance on finding a good home, rather than taking a chance on having to work like a dog.

In our house, Judy Boots Streak doesn't have to do any actual work (outside of writing the occasional column, which comes easily to her), but she is expected to be obedient.

And did you ever hear of a cat being expected to be obedient?

With Little Miss Muffet, we plead for co-operation, and sometimes get it. But that's where the matter ends.

For the rest of it, Little Miss Muffet organizes her life as she chooses, deciding when to eat, when to sleep, when to play.

As I look at her right now, she has just decided it is time to sleep.

And—one second, two seconds, three seconds—she is asleep.

That accomplishment alone is enough to convince me to be a cat, if I have a choice come re-incarnation time.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Gifts and money donations to the Canadian Mental Health Association, Victoria branch, for Christmas gift distribution to mental patients can be left at Hawkes Real Estate, 817A Fort, not 612 View as previously reported.

Donations to the Community Chest totalled $172,365 at noon today. Persons missed by the campaign may phone chest headquarters at 2-5121 and a canvasser will call for donations. Chest objective is $251,717.

A triangular playground area reserved during the subdivision of Pemberton Woods is to be removed from the parks reserve and placed on the market by city lands committee. Parks administrator W. H. Warren told parks and finance committees of city council, the park, known as Armine Park, is located too close to the larger Pemberton Park to merit development.

J. N. Fraine, newly-appointed vice-president, Pacific Region, Canadian Pacific Railway, is in Victoria today on a brief visit from his Vancouver office. He will make a brief inspection of the E and N Railway before returning to the mainland.

Charge against Jacob Daniel Reiswig, Sidney, of failing to file income tax returns for 1956 was dismissed in Sidney RCMP court today.

Several district contractors will bid next week for an estimated $255,000 addition to Oak Bay High School. Included in the addition will be 10 teaching areas and a gymnasium-auditorium with dressing rooms. The school is overcrowded at present with students taking classes in basement quarters, the gym and lunchroom. Original section of the school was built in 1931.

Frank, E. Birtwhistle, 665 Baxter, was fined $10 in Saanich police court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to depositing live ashes on his basement floor, resulting in a small fire.

Actually, he explained to the court, his son had emptied ashes from a furnace, piling them on the floor against a sawdust chute, which began to burn after several hours.

Annual meeting of the Red Cheveron Association, comprised of Canadian Expeditionary Force veterans, will be held Monday, Remembrance Day, at 7.30 p.m., 1001 Wharf Street.

The association now has 120 active members and about 250 associate members.

President is Lieut. Col. J. N. Edgar.

Government Graving Dock employee Fred Wicks, 40, of 4256 Dieppe Road, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital early today with a fractured arm and skull lacerations, sustained when he was hit with a moving crank in the pump-house. He was taken to hospital at 8:55 by Esquimalt police.

Edward N. Case, Philadelphia, Penn., sales manager for Ajax Electric Co., will address the Vancouver Island chapter of the American Society for Metals next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Pacific Club.

Fine of $25 and $250 costs were imposed against Edward Drew Television Ltd., 901 Lodge, in city police court today for failure to file income tax returns for 1956. Director of the firm, Edward Drew, Campbell River, pleaded guilty to the charge.

Old-Age Pensioners branch five realized $270 from a bazaar Wednesday, convened by Mrs. W. S. Kendall. Tea was served by Women of the Moose.

Air Fares to Vancouver Up; Reduction in Tourist Rates

Tourist fares will be reduced and first-class fares will go up slightly in a new tariff schedule announced today by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The new rates go into effect Jan. 1.

Fares from Victoria to mainland points, all first class, will be increased with the discounts on return tickets being eliminated.

Victoria to Vancouver flights will cost $5 one way, up 40 cents from present rates. The round trip fare will increase from $8.30 to $10.

Victoria-Seattle runs will increase from $5 to $6 one way and from $9.50 to $12 for the round trip.

Tourist fare reductions will drop coast-to-coast round trips 50 in price. The Victoria-Halifax rate will be $316 compared with the present $366. First class rates for the round trip will rise from $401.10 to $410.

Other sample round-trip fares from Victoria are:

Toronto—tourist, Jan. 1 $230, present $264.30; first class, Jan. 1 $295, present $328.55; Winnipeg—tourist, Jan. 1 $132.90, present $152.90; first class, Jan. 1 $175, present $170.20.

Sea Cadets, Not Boy Scouts, In Door-to-Door Orange Sales

Victoria businessman Ernest Warner apologized publicly today to the Boy Scouts for a statement he made Thursday that the group had perpetrated "a terrible hold-up" in door-to-door sale of oranges.

He said he has since learned the orange sales were conducted by Rainbow Sea Cadets.

"I'm very sorry, I was confused in the twilight by the uniform."

Mr. Warner made his statement before city council finance committee in protesting door-to-door sales by charitable organizations, which he believes adversely affect local merchants.

He said today, "My point is, these requests for funds should be channeled through Community Chest."

The charge against the Scouts brought instant reply from Scout association president Vernon Ridgway. The Scouts did not carry out the orange sale, he said, and policy at district level was absolutely against drives in competition with retailers.

One Scout group in Glanford area did undertake an orange selling campaign prior to Christmas last year. But this apparently was carried out without approval of the district council, and not connected with the campaign referred to by Mr. Warner.

The one thing that sustained me through this hectic day was the prospect of you greeting me at the door—cool, immaculate and radiantly beautiful in the afternoon sun.

Fresh Green Asparagus
Tops My Weekend Menu

By PENNY SAVER

Another long weekend! The time trips by so quickly, it seems like only yesterday we were ordering our Thanksgiving fare! But here we are again racking our brains to think how we can satisfy the ravenous appetites all about us.

Listen! My book is chock full of ideas. Asparagus is in the city now, and what could be more appetizing than long asparagus stalks, cooked just right and served dripping with butter? All yours at a half a pound for 29 cents.

If you are a carrot fan, you'll be interested to know that the season is coming to a close soon, so enjoy them while they are still on the stands. The price has bounced down considerably too! Just three pounds for 25 cents.

Something to add to your late autumn table is a crisp green salad. Gives you the important vitamins and nourishment that you need during these chilly months. California lettuce comes at 25 cents a head—large ones too! Local heads of lettuce are still on the stands, but the life span of these is coming to an end. They are 15 cents a head.

Zoom! Down they go! I'm talking 'bout those local potatoes. Guess what? They are only five pounds for 29 cents. Then, of course you can buy a sack for $3.95. Now, if that isn't economizing!

Creamed cauliflower. Well, yum, yum! For a Sunday dinner treat, prepare some cheese sauce. Melt a tablespoon of butter over a low heat, add two cups of milk and a quarter of a cup of flour. Then you grate up some cheese (sharp is preferable) and throw it all together in a double boiler. Pour the sauce over the cauliflower and you'll receive compliments galore! A large head of cauliflower is 25 cents.

Nothing perks up breakfast or brunch like a juicy, golden grapefruit. If you're particular about how your victuals look, why not pretty this citrus fruit up by cutting it around the middle in a floral pattern, using a very sharp knife? Place a maraschino cherry in the centre and there is a dessert to behold! Today grapefruits are selling at three for 27 cents.

Sour little limes have found a way into some of the shops this week. Here's a good idea! A lime meringue pie. Prepare lime filling, except omit the butter. Here are a few tips on the care of limes. Store in a glass jar in the refrigerator and never use a lime that has turned yellow! They are six for 33 cents.

For any of these tasty products, phone me at 2-3131, and I'll be happy to tell you where I saw them.

TODAY'S RECIPE

TUNA-POTATO SCALLOP

Three medium-sized potatoes, peeled; 1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked; 1 medium-sized onion, sliced; 1 can (10 oz.) cream of mushroom soup, ½ cup milk, dash pepper, 2 teaspoons butter.

Slice potatoes thinly. Arrange sliced potatoes, flaked tuna and sliced onion in alternate layers in a greased 1½-quart casserole, beginning and ending with a layer of potatoes. Combine soup, milk and pepper. Pour combined liquid ingredients over contents of casserole, then dot with butter. Place in a moderate oven (375 degrees F) for 1 hour, or until potatoes are tender. Makes 4 servings.

WHY

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q.—"My waist measures 28½ inches. I am 13 years old. My bust measures 34 inches. The back of my hips are too large. Am I hopeless? I am 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 125 pounds."

A.—You are far from being hopeless. Your weight is ideal and your waist will just naturally slim down as you grow older. You did not give me your hip measurement but you can take hip-slimming exercises if you wish. If you, or any of my readers, would like to have them, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q.—"My hips have hollow places on them, or they sink in on the sides. What can I do for this and what causes it?"

A.—This condition is due to a sag in the muscles plus an accumulation of fat at these spots. Try the following exercises:

Stand tall. Contract the hip muscles. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Repeat 10 times.

Q.—"My problem is myself. Sometimes I think I am in love and then at other times I don't know. I am writing to a boy who has moved to another state. I went with him for six weeks before he left. When I think of him now at times I love him but at other times I don't like him. It was that way before he left. He is one of the nicest boys I have ever known."

This girl is doing a Josephine Lowman-hip-slimming exercise. If you would like to have her free leaflet containing exercises for the hips, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

A.—When you are in love you will know it. Right now you are in love with being in love.

Q.—"I have awful bow legs. I don't wear shorts or go swimming or do any of the things girls my age like to do. I feel I am missing out on half of my life because of my legs. What kind of a doctor should I see?"

A.—See an orthopedic physician, but do not allow the shape of your legs to ruin your happiness.

Aged Ladies' Home
Gets Television

Television is now being enjoyed by residents of the Aged Ladies' Home. The gift of Mrs. J. M. Hopkins, the set was installed in time for the Queen's visit to Canada.

Flowers, fruit and vegetables were presented to the home from Christ Church Cathedral, St. Davids-by-the-Sea, Quadra Bible School and First United Church CGIT.

An evening of entertainment was provided for the ladies by the Gideon Society. The Salvation Army conducts a service of worship in the home every week.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

A note of sympathy: Would you please help me word a note to friends who have just lost their son in an airplane accident. I am at a loss to express myself.

Louise Davis answers:

I suggest that your note be as short and sincere as possible. Expressing your sympathy and thoughts with lengthy paragraphs are likely to send the parents into depths of emotion and grief. A few thoughtful words can tell a great deal, for somehow or other, unspoken sentiments from friends are strongly felt in tragic moments like these. Restraint is therefore advisable. If you have engraved calling cards or informals, you can write under your name, "My deepest sympathy." If you prefer to write the note instead, you might say something like this, "I want you to know that a friend is thinking of you with loving sympathy." Those parents need the strength of others, and you would help to give your strength with brevity.

PAY TO SEE A KITCHEN

NEW YORK (CP) — New Yorkers can poke into the kitchens of the famous later this month with the conviction that they are being charitable rather than curious.

Sixteen Manhattan homes will be opened to the public, eight Nov. 19 and eight Nov. 20. The privilege of looking at the kitchens of Gypsy Rose Lee, Betty Furness, designer Raymond Loewy and others costs $5 each day. The money goes to children's play centres and the Parents' League of New York.

Viewing hours are 2 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. and ticket-holders may visit the homes in any order they wish. Decorating styles are said to range from the spacious and casual to the utterly feminine.

Clubwomen's News

Donations—Sums of $100 were donated to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, and to the School for Retarded Children, at a meeting of Alden Hamber Chapter, IOOE. A contribution of $10 was forwarded from the chapter to the Centennial Bursary Fund. Mrs. H. Van Norman was elected Echoes secretary, under convocation of Miss E. Nagle. It was reported that bouquets of chrysanthemums were placed by the chapter in Veterans' Hospital recently.

... TEACHERS

graduate from training colleges. Victoria is not attracting sufficient replacement teachers.

"While past reception of new building schemes has been frustrating and disappointing in the extreme, there is yet to be shown any real opposition to salary increases for teachers actually exists.

"If there were such, surely you would not now be begging the community to give you a contest at the polls this December."

SOOKE BOOST

The Sooke school district wage request—16 per cent or $47,875 for 70 teachers—represents a 2½-mill increase in the district tax rate for schools.

Sooke school board chairman John Williams said the request "... follows hard on the heels of a 10 per cent increase granted last year."

He said this caused the 1957 board to reduce school maintenance in order to avoid "a sharp rise in school taxes."

"Judging by the amounts, of the current demands it appears that they were submitted on the recommendation of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, as the board was informed that the demands represent one-third of a planned three-year campaign of salary increases by that body."

"We are well aware," said Mr. Williams, "of a present serious shortage of qualified teachers in the province and of the need to attract more of our brighter students into the teaching profession."

NO CURE-ALL

"However, we are not convinced that continuous substantial salary increases are the cure-all for this problem."

He said his board had previously agreed "reasonable salary increases" would be considered.

"... we were totally unprepared to consider increases amounting to more than $1,000 in certain categories, which would put some of our teachers in the $9,000 bracket."

He said little hope of substantial increases exists until the department of education increases salary grant formula.

"Although we have been promised a revision in the grant structure, no relief has as yet been forthcoming, and any salary increases are thus a direct charge on the local taxpayer."

He said the board does not intend to cut school maintenance or improvement this year in order to pay higher salaries, while commending the cordial relations between the teachers and the board.

Doubt Burgess, Maclean Killed

LONDON (Reuters)—British today discounted reports the former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean have been liquidated in Russia.

Answering a question at his daily press conference, a foreign office spokesman said: "I have no reason to believe these reports to be correct."

There were circulated following the return to the United States from Moscow of an American congressman who said that a letter suggesting the two men had met with an "accident" had been surreptitiously placed in his pocket.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—This steel metropolis today struggled along for the 26th straight day without its main mass transportation system as losses from a strike mounted into millions of dollars.

EIFFEL TOWER TOO MUCH FOR EVEREST CONQUEROR

PARIS (AP)—Tensing Norqay, one of the conquerors of Everest, climbed the Eiffel Tower today—by elevator and only to the first level. "Too foggy," he said.

The 43-year-old Nepalese Sherpa, who reached the top of Mount Everest 29,002 feet to the tower's 984 with Sir Edmund Hillary in 1953, is winding up a European tour. He said before heading home to his mountain guide school that he'd like to try Everest again some time but he's too busy right now.

Sputnik Oddities Around the World

LONDON (Reuters)—Two Londoners were overheard discussing Russian and American Sputnik projects today.

"This second Russian earth satellite with the dog weighs 1,118 pounds," said one, "and the one the Americans plan to send up is only 4½ pounds."

"Yes," said the other man,

Stursberg Trade Mission Press Officer

Peter Stursberg, research officer to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and a former employee of the Victoria Daily Times, will accompany the forthcoming trade mission to the United Kingdom as press officer, it was announced in Ottawa today.

Raised in Victoria, Mr. Stursberg spent four years with the Victoria Times and later went overseas as a war correspondent for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp.

He covered the Canadian landings in Sicily and Italy, the Battle of Cassino, the capture of Rome, the crossing of the Rhine and the liberation of Holland.

As a roving correspondent for the London Daily Herald from 1945 to 1950, he travelled in Europe, India, Africa and the British West Indies, followed by six years as United Nations correspondent for the CBC.

Until his recent appointment in the prime minister's office, he was parliamentary correspondent for the Toronto Star in Ottawa.

Earthquake Recorded

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A strong earth shock was felt here Thursday. The national observatory estimated the epicentre was 50 miles southwest, off the Pacific coast.

'LOVES TO WANDER'

Five-Year-Old Boy Missing 11 Hours

A blonde five-year-old boy, found at 11 p.m. after he had been missing from his home for 11 hours Thursday, slept long into the morning today.

At 9.30 he was still sleeping the sleep of the adventurous. "Usually he's awake and jumping around at 7," his grandmother Mrs. J. D. Peterson, 156 Joseph said.

Christopher Cook had been the object of a search by two shifts of city police, naval shore patrol, soldiers and 40 Fairfield district neighbors after Mrs. Peterson reported him missing at 7.30 p.m.

The little boy was found by searchers at about 11, curled asleep in a garage two doors from his home.

Christopher had been playing with a friend until 5 p.m., then left him, and apparently followed a cat into the garage.

The boy, who had refused to put on a jacket at noon, stayed to get warm and fell asleep.

Taken home to his mother Mrs. June Cook, he was put into a hot bath and fed a mid-night snack.

His mother and grandmother were "relieved, happy and just a bit annoyed."

B.C. Inventor Offers U.S. Better 'Moon'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver inventor says he has offered the U.S. government a revolutionary flying saucer-type aircraft that he claims will out-distance Sputniks.

Inventor Alex Johnson said he has already moved "material" by using a fantastically lightweight motor that uses a new power of "energy."

With a full crew, he says, his circular machine will reach a speed of 9,000 miles a minute and will stay in the air 15 days.

"We could be on the moon within a year," he said.

The U.S. government is interested, says Mr. Johnson, who has a letter signed by General Samuel Anderson, chief of the air research and development board in Washington, offering an interview with Gen. Paul Ney, head of the Los Angeles branch of the board.

Mr. Johnson says he will not offer the new invention to Canada because he doubts whether Ottawa has enough money to put the machine in the air.

He wants $1,000,000 with which he says he can produce a model to prove his claim.

Indian Village Water System Almost Ready

DUNCAN — More than 8,000 feet of water line will be laid to Quamichan Indian village Nov. 16, it was announced last week by an Indian affairs department spokesman.

Pipe will be taken to within feet of the 26 homes in the area, and 2,200 feet of plastic pipe will be run to St. Catharine's Indian School on Tzoulem Road.

PHOEB
Work on the water system was prompted by an outbreak of phoid on the reserve in September when one woman was hospitalized and a man was found to be a dormant carrier. Use of polluted water from Cowan River was blamed by Indians for the disease.

Fallout 'Negligible' In U.K. Nuclear Blast

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced she exploded a nuclear weapon at a high altitude today over the central Pacific.

The explosion heralded the start of a new series of British tests in the area of Christmas Island. Last May and June British nuclear scientists fired off three H-bombs in an opening series.

Today's announcement followed by only a few hours British rejection of another Japanese request that she call off plans for new H-bomb tests in the Pacific. Japanese Ambassador Haruhiko Nishi then asked that Britain accept responsibility for any damage to Japanese lives and property which might result from the new tests.

The ministry of supply said indications are that radioactive fallout from today's blast will be negligible.

Summit Talk Useless Now, Asserts Lloyd

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today turned down a suggestion by Nikita Khrushchev for an early summit conference of Communist and western governments.

He told the House of Commons there is nothing in Russia's deeds to suggest that such a meeting now could accomplish any purpose.

"Summit talks which are a failure do more harm than no talks at all," Lloyd said. "But that does not mean that we believe no summit talks should ever take place."

Lloyd cited last year's Hungarian incident as proof of Russia's determination to ruthlessly suppress any attempt to break away from a Communist empire.

Lloyd said Soviet Communist party secretary Khrushchev recently has seemed to imply that Britain has become a second-rate power.

Forest Layoff Affects 200 Island Workers

A total of 450 men, including 200 on Vancouver Island, will be laid off tonight by Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited in a winter closure that comes six weeks earlier than usual.

Six operations will be affected, and they will be shut down for at least three months because of a high inventory of logs and a general slump in the forest products market.

Largest layoff is at the Courtenay and Quadra Island operations, where 200 men will lose their jobs. Others are at Saltery Bay on Jervis Inlet, 80 men; South Bentinck Arm, near Bella Coola, 45 men; Bella Coola, 50 men, and Sandspit, in the Queen Charlotte Islands, 75 men.

H. J. Hodgins, company's timber department manager, said at many men as possible will be retained to complete certain road construction.

Juror's Absence Delays Inquest

COURTENAY (CP) — Failure of one juror to appear at an inquest Tuesday into the death of Frank Plowright caused adjournment to Saturday.

Coroner Thomas Menzies said a grave injustice had been done to the court by the absence of juror John Burns Timmins. Penalty for failing to appear for jury duty could be a $25 fine.

... JOBLESS
not as rapidly or to the extent of the last few years, particularly in lumbering and manufacturing of wood products.

The lumbering, pulp and paper, saw mill, plywood and mining industries all were reported curtailing activity in many parts of Canada.

During September, Canada's jobless total climbed by 20,000 to 194,000. This is about 3.2 per cent of the labor force.

45-YEAR RESIDENT HERE

Drysdale Rites Today

Funeral service was to be held at McCall's Funeral Home today at 1:15 o'clock for Mrs. Jessie Drysdale, 67, 2602 Wark, a resident of Victoria for 45 years.

Mrs. Drysdale died Tuesday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Born in Woolich, England, she moved here as the wife of John Henry Smythe. Following his death she was married in 1942 to Alex Drysdale.

Mrs. Drysdale is survived by the widower; three sons, John Henry Smythe, Duncan, Albert Frederick Smythe and Percy Douglas Smythe, both of Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Kinnear and Mrs. Susan Belton, both of Victoria, and nine grandchildren.

Canon Frederick Pike was to officiate at the funeral, with interment following in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Hospital Files Annual Report

DUNCAN — Revenue at King's Daughters' Hospital for the first nine months of the year was $417,239, hospital directors learned at their regular meeting.

Expenses for the same period were $405,527.

It was reported there were 18 operating room cancellations in one week, and seven medical patients were unable to obtain beds through lack of accommodation.

Total Eclipse Seen

TOKYO (Reuters) — Thousands of Tokyo residents crowded the capital's streets Thursday night to watch the first total, lunar eclipse in 11 years.

Glen Lake Flooding Subject of Surveys

LUXTON — Provincial water rights branch is conducting a survey of Bilston Creek to find a way to reduce flooding in the Happy Valley-Glen Lake area.

Trustee Stan Hiscock of the Bilston Creek Improvement District, which was formed to promote flood control in the area, said highways department crews have cleared major log jams in the creek.

The season is too far advanced to start major improvements this year, he said.

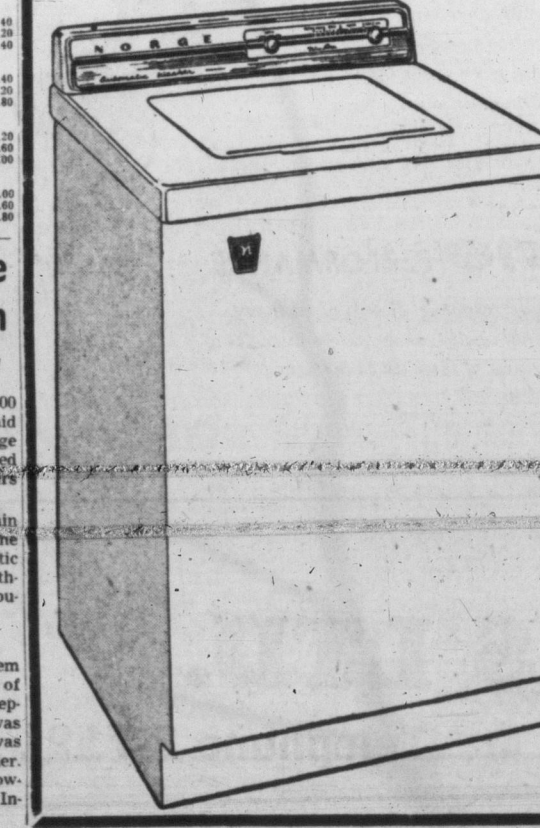

One of the perennial problems that should be eased will be the flooding of Dewdney flats, where water often covers Sooke Road for a stretch of almost a mile.
